But Marquard Tightens Up
and Outlooks Boston for the Remainder of the Game

(By Grantland Rice.)

BRUSH STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Driven to bay, the Giants led a last desperate assault against the Red Sox machine today and tore it apart within one round. Marquard pitched his pals to a rousing, cake-walk victory by the count of 5 to 2. The Rubes as in his first turn, broke the Boston attack at every turn and after one rickety round, the second, stopped Stahl's slashing sluggers with a thud.

Tonight the Giants move back to Boston for another game stand, where Tesreau and Joe Wood hook up for their third clash. The first round today settled the battle. Stahl stuck in "Buck" O'Brien and the Giants were ready. Knowing they were fighting with their backs to the wall, they rushed the Red Sox spit-baller with such savage fierceness that he was on the ropes in a twinkling, when he was slammed for six hits and five runs before Stahl could get another pitcher warmed up and into the fray.

Collins Pitching Clever.
Ray Collins followed O'Brien in the second round, rushing back the Giants' rushes by wonderful pitching—sure and effective—but his brilliant work went to seed. For working on that five run lead, the Rubes, after one short lapse through over center field, settled to his task and breezed along under wraps. From the second round on, he was never in trouble, and sharp, sure support by his mates did the rest. That first assault on O'Brien was a classic one. Doyle led with a hit and a steal. Then with two out, Murray singled, Merkle doubled, Herzog doubled, Meyers singled and Fletcher dumped a bunt which squeezed the Indian over the fifth

BULGARIA AND SERVIA BEGIN

Porte Refuses Czar's Demands and Moves Upon Frontier of the Servian Kingdom

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Turkey
and Italy have signed terms,
according to a special from Berlin to the Exchange Telegraph company today.

SERBIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 14.—
Fierce fighting between Bulgarian and Turkish frontier guards at Egripalanka was reported here today.

Three Bulgarian armies were contemplating in the meantime an extensive campaign by the middle of the week.

One force, it was said, will hold the mountain defiles by which a Turkish invasion might be expected.

A second, reinforced by a division of Servians, is to attack Adrianople.
A third, also supported by Servian troops, it was reported, would march on the Albanian town of Uckub.

Macedonian rebels against the sultan's rule, it was stated here today, have already occupied Kresna Pass to guard against a Turkish flanking movement against the Bulgarians and Servians.

Refuses Bulgarian Demands
BERLIN, Oct. 14.—Turkey has announced that it cannot agree to Bulgaria's demands, according to a message from Constantinople. Declarations of war are expected tomorrow.

An Austrian military movement is in progress toward the Russian frontier. The Berlin Stock exchange was weak today in anticipation of hostilities.

Servia Invaded
BELGRADE, Oct. 14.—Turkish troops invaded Servia near Ristosatz early today. A Servian force opposed their advance and a battle began. At latest accounts it was still raging.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14.—
The Turkish cabinet today had completed the draft of its reply to the powers' note, delivered through Austria, concerning the Balkan situation. The answer is an emphatic refusal to comply with the allies. Turkey proposes reforms in the sultan's European provinces, but by no means of the humiliating nature required by the alliance. It was expected the combination would be handed to the Austrian ambassador today.

PODGORITZA, Oct. 14.—Montenegrins wounded in battle with the Turks south of here are suffering frantically for lack of medical attention. Several hundred had arrived from the front today and there are but three or four surgeons to care for them. The food supply is almost wholly exhausted.

Gambler Tells Story of Plot Against Rosenthal that Corroborates Bald
Jack's Testimony

MRS. ROSENTHAL TO CHANGE

Rumor Is Out that Wife of Victim Has Been Approached and Will Switch to Derense

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Bridgie
Webber, gambler, today corroborated
in every detail the story of Police Lieutenant Becker's planning the death of Herman Rosenthal, told the jury Saturday by Jack Rose. He told how Becker insisted over remonstrances that the gambler must be "croaked."

He described the scenes
immediately preceding the shooting,
when the gunmen gathered in his poker room preparatory to going out after their quarry.

That the original plan concocted
by Jack Rose and Becker was to have Rosenthal slain in his (Web-ber's) poker room was also declared
by the witness.

Has Corroboration
When the trial of Police Lieut.
Becker for the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, was resumed before Justice Goff today, District Attorney Whitman was prepared to offer
the corroboration needed so that Jack Rose's murder tale might be believed by the jurors.

First, however, he planned to call Vallon, Webber and Schepps. Then, with the tale of the conspiracy on

CITY WILL GAIN BY INCOME TAX

Figures Submitted by Income Tax Assessor Show that City Gains
$3,159.80

CITY INCOME TAX $50,000

After State and County's Share Is Deducted Income Tax Is $35,000

According to figures submitted by J. E. Keizer, income tax assessor, today the city will gain $3,159.80 in revenue by the passage of the income tax law instead of losing $17,717.23
as claimed by City Tax Commissioner Joseph Frisch.

According to Mr. Frisch, the exemptions under the income tax law amounted to $2,459,226 and at the rate of 21 mills this would have produced $51,643.74. Mr. Frisch then deducted $35,000, the city's share of the income tax, leaving $17-717.23, which he claims is lost through the income tax law.

Income Tax Assessor Keizer's figures show, however, that instead of exemptions amounting to $2,459,226
they were only $2,166,000. The revenue on this at 21 mills is $45,486,
so that instead of the revenue
lost through exemptions amounting to $51,643.74 it amounted to but $45,486.

According to the estimate of the state tax commission the income tax
in the city of La Crosse amounted to $50,000. In placing the income tax in the city budget an allowance of thirty per cent, the state and county share of the income tax, was made,
placing the city's share at $35,000.

The city would have received $45,486
in revenue by taxing the exempt property and deducting thirty per cent for the state and county this would have left but $31,840.20, or $3,159.80 less than was derived from the income tax. In his estimate Mr.
Frisch did not make allowance for state and county's share of the income tax being already deducted.

Exemptions $2,166,000
Mr. Frisch submitted the following statement of exemptions:
Gold watches ..... $ 3,695
Pianos ..... 130,525
Moneys and credits ..... 1,879,339
All other pers. property. 445,547

Total ..... $2,549,106
The item of all other personal property last year amounted to $445,547 and Mr. Frisch included all of that class of property as exempt.
Mr. Keizer today declared that only certain kinds of that class of property were exempt and that instead of the exemptions on that class of property amounting to $445,547, it amounts to $152,409 or $293,138 less than the figures submitted by Mr. Frisch.

adaptation to the child mind.

REPEATS CHARGE AGAINST MUNSON

Gays Mills Farmer Declares Crawford County District Attorney Is Guilty of Malfeasance

HE REFUSES TO RETRACT

That Statement Is True to Be Defense in the $10,000 Libel
Suit

The preliminary hearing in the Munson vs. Anderson libel suit, which will be tried in circuit court of Crawford county this fall was held before Judge John Brindley in county court today and according to the testimony given by Alec Anderson, of Gays Mills, the defendant in the suit, sensational developments may be expected when the case goes to trial. The suit was brought against Anderson by M. J. Munson, district attorney of Crawford county, who asks for a judgment of $10,000 for the alleged publishing of a statement by Anderson that he was guilty
of malfeasance in office.

That Anderson will not deny that he published the charge against Mr.
Munson but that he will maintain that the charges against Munson are true, became evident under the questioning of the attorneys in the case
in county court today.

Anderson declared on the stand today that Munson was guilty of malfeasance in office and should be removed. He said that he had given Munson about sixty dollars to prosecute a case against a Gays Mills saloonkeeper, whom he accused of having improper relations with his wife. He made the charge that instead of prosecuting the case Munson helped the saloonkeeper to dispose of his property and escape to Canada. He declared that Munson offered to pay back his money if he would keep quiet about it.

McConnell and Schweizer are the attorneys for Munson and Wolfe and Wolfe for the defense.

30,000 PARADE
LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 14.— Thirty thousand American flags were carried through three miles of muddy streets Saturday by 30,000 men, women and children in a unique demonstration against the Industrial Workers of the World. Hardly a building in the city was without decorations. Lining the streets through which the parade passed the spectatlers stood ten deep, and almost without exception they waved the stars and stripes or wore miniature flags
on their coats.

LAWYER LEAVES $992,000
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Edward M.
Shepard, the Brooklyn lawyer and politician who died at Lake George a year ago, left an estate appraised at $992,000. The bulk of it is invested in stocks and bonds, according to the report of the state appraisers just filed here.

CONVICTS ESCAPE AND SHOOT UP WYOMING TOWN

Two Parties of Prisoners Make Getaway from the Rawlins Penitentiary

TWO CITIZENS ARE KILLED

Inhabitants Shot Down by Desperadoes When They Attempt to Interfere

FOURTEEN STILL AT LARGE

Two of Criminals Are Slain
but Rest Have Made Off Into the Hills

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 14.—
With two persons known to be dead,
two others reported slain, and one mortally wounded in the open country about Rawlins, Wyo., excitement was at fever heat all over the state today, as the result of last night's riot of convicts at the state penitentiary, resulting in the second successful prison delivery there in 36 hours.

Of the eight convicts who overpowered their guards and escaped
last night, one, Antonio Paseo, a life
termer, is known to have been shot down. Another convict, name unknown, is said to have been slain outside of Rawlins by a posse of guards, and a third is reported mortally wounded.

Shoot Citizens
Charles Strasser, a Rawlins barber, attempted to stop the fleeing convicts when they left the prison,
and was shot through the temple by Paseo, dying instantly.

Another citizen, a hunter, name unknown, is said to have been slain
by convicts outside of Rawlins when the fugitives held up a hunting party
and seized their weapons and ammunition.

There have been two deliveries
since Saturday and much confusion exists.

Late Saturday Butch Dalton, a life
termer, and 19 other convicts overpowered the inner guards at the penitentiary and escaped. They spread out over town, and then went into the surrounding country. Warden Alston ordered out a half dozen posses to search for them, and by noon Sunday ten had been recaptured.

Paseo Leads Escape

The absence of so many guards
from the prison was the direct cause of the second escape. Antonio Paseo,
a bad man of the most desperate
type, organized a party of prisoners,
and early last night eight of them rushed the inner guards, overpowered the turnkeys, climbed the walls and quickly walked away. Before going, however, they armed themselves with butcher knives, hatchets
and cleavers from the kitchen.

The party remained together,
and started through the residence
section of Rawlins. Prison yard guards gave chase. Charles Strasser saw the fugitives and tried to capture them. They fled from him at first, until they reached the ward
of Bert Talbert. Paseo slashed Talbert across the throat, took his revolver and shot Strasser. He then took Strasser's ammunition and revolver and escaped. Guards overtook them near the railroad yards and shot the top of Paseo's head off.

The others fled through the wards firing as they ran. Three were captured. Four reached the outskirts and got into the hills, a large party of guards and citizens pursuing.

South of Rawlins, the four fleeing fugitives took possession of a sheep camp, compelling R. J. Daley to drive them southward. When overhauled they unhitched the horses, took arms and ammunition from the wagon and escaped in the darkness, two on each horse. These four are heavily armed, and are sure to give desperate battle if cornered.
It is feared they may effect a junction with the ten fugitives led by Dalton.

Dalton Band Desperate

The Dalton fugitives are most deperate, which was shown at noon yesterday, when a party of them, believed to number six, were trapped in a canyon south of Rawlins. They had built a barricade of rocks and fired upon the guards from behind
this, forcing the pursuers to retreat.

Meantime, a condition bordering on panic exists at Rawlins. Last night heads of families, fearing the fugitive convicts might seek refuge in their homes, sat up all night with rifles across their knees. Scenes riv-alling those during the days of the Indian uprisings thirty years ago
were witnessed.

Mayor Anderson and the council today appointed a posse of twenty picked gun fighters to watch the penitentiary so that in case of another jail delivery, the town will be safe. Three hundred citizens today organized themselves into a vigilance committee after patrolling the streets of Rawlins all night.

STATE INSURANCE APPLICATIONS OUT

First Steps Taken to Put New Law Into Operation by Wisconsin Department

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Letters are being sent out by the state department of insurance containing application blanks for state insurance and setting forth the plan and desirability of such insurance. This is the first step taken by the state to put into operation the new law providing for life insurance by the state, the plan of which has for some time engaged the attention of Commissioner Herman L. Ekern. Besides the application blank the letter contains a copy of the law passed at the last session of the legislature providing for this new departure by the state.

The letter accompanying the application blanks and the law reads: "Dear Sir:—The state of Wisconsin is soon ready to issue policies of life insurance and must have a considerable number of approved applications before the plan can be put into operation."

"Will you kindly return this sheet with the names of ten young men in your vicinity, 20 years of age or over, sound and in good health, who need and are in position to pay for a $1,000 policy of life insurance in the life fund of the state."

"Full information and blanks for application will soon be sent to anyone on request."

The application blank reads: "I consider making application for $1,000 or $500 insurance in the life fund of the state of Wisconsin on ordinary life, 20 payment life, 20 year endowment, endowment at age 65, term to age 65. Indicate amount and plan desired by underscoring. Thus: $1,000 ordinary life."

Commissioner Ekern will shortly issue a statement setting forth in more detail the proposed operation of the law.

LAFITTE FOR WILSON

OREGON NOMINEE FOR G. O. P. ELECTOR REFUSES HONOR AND DECLARES FOR THE GOVERNOR

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14.—William Harney of Burns, "the duke of Harney," is out for Woodrow Wilson. He was nominated as a republican candidate for elector in the primaries, but declined the honor, and his declaration for the democratic candidate gives explanation for his refusal to take a place on the Taft ticket.

In a letter to Colonel C. E. S. Wood, Mr. Harney says he does not weigh party labels against principle. He is not going to support Taft because he believes the fight is between Wilson and Roosevelt, and he considers Roosevelt dangerous to the country.

TESREAU'S FAMILY WATCHES PITCHER

IRONTON, Mo., Oct. 14.—The Jeff Tesreau's younger brother will be glad when the world's series is over, for he has to walk eleven miles every night to get the score for his father.

Jeff's father, known as "Old Man" Tesreau in the community, lives in a cabin far back in the Ozark mountains with his son. Papers are slow in reaching him, so the younger brother hikes out every night for the score, especially if Jeff is billed to pitch.

Sitting in front of his cabin today "Old Man" Tesreau heard of Jeff's defeat yesterday. He whittled a stick and pulled away on a corn-cob pipe as the story of the game was told to him, then said:

"Jeff'll get 'em yet. I know what a pitcher he is, and nobody can beat my boy when he's right."

VOTE FOR KAREL IS FOR REACTION

Last Issue of La Follette's Magazine Tells Voters of State of Conditions

McGOVERN IS FOR PROGRESS

Vote for Governor Is in Favor of Continued Advancement, Says Senator

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—That a vote for McGovern is in favor of continued advancement and is cast for the progressive movement, is a statement made by Senator La Follette in an editorial in his magazine last week. The editorial is entitled "To the Progressive Voters of Wisconsin," and reviews Karel's record in deadly parallel with that of McGovern. Says the editorial:

"The situation in Wisconsin remains unchanged. It is McGovern or Karel for governor. Between these two candidates, the progressive voters who, through the republican party, have made Wisconsin the beacon light of constructive self government, should have no difficulty in choosing. It is plainly a choice between progress and reaction, between general interest and special interest."

"McGovern, the republican candidate, stands on a platform in keeping with the principles upon which true representative government has been built, and pledging their further extension toward a complete political, educational and industrial democracy. Karel, the democratic candidate, stands on a platform which is a repudiation of the leadership of William Jennings Bryan and Woodrow Wilson; in fact the supporters of Karel are the enemies of Wilson and Bryan. McGovern has a record of real service, of faithful performance of his pledges, and of earnest co-operation with the legislature in carrying out the expressed will of the people. Karel's legislative record is a record of unbroken hostility to those vital measures which laid the foundation of Wisconsin's high governmental eminence. McGovern, on his record as governor, and his acceptance of the republican platform, is supported by the progressive republican leaders throughout the state who for years have helped bear the brunt of the struggle. Karel's backers are the undemocratic democrats and the stalwart republican bosses."

"Wisconsin progressives resent and repudiate McGovern's course in waiting until he was safely nominated and then exhibiting the bull moose pin under his coat collar. They are expressing their resentment in no uncertain terms. They are expressing their resentment in no uncertain terms. But the bull moosing of McGovern should not subject him to punishment by Wisconsin voters in the coming election when the weight of such punishment would not fall upon him but upon the whole state. His declarations for Roosevelt and the steel trust 'legalized monopoly' program, have no immediate bearing upon the work of our state government during the next two years. The republican platform pledges which he, if elected, is in duty bound to fulfill, have naught of the bull moose taint, and his record of the past two years is sufficient warrant that he will not fail in his future fulfillment of present promises to the voters of Wisconsin."

"A vote for Karel is a vote for reaction and special interests. A vote for McGovern is a vote for continued advancement; it is a vote cast for the progressive movement."

MOOSER FOR WILSON

OREGON CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE VOICES APPRECIATION OF DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT

ALBANY, Oregon, Oct. 14.—"Governor Wilson is a high-minded gentleman and a man of great ability. He is a thorough progressive and if elected will, in my judgment, give the people a progressive administration."

This statement was made here today by John W. Campbell who is the Bull Moose candidate for congress in the first district of Oregon. Mr. Campbell's attitude towards Governor Wilson is typical of the position taken by large numbers of progressives in this state. It is conceded that the third-term candidate injured rather than helped his cause in Oregon, and as a result many who were disposed to vote for him are turning to Governor Wilson.

PROGRESSIVES WILL HAVE OUR SUPPORT

In the present campaign The Tribune will support the republican county ticket.

The campaign for state offices is one of immense importance to the progressive cause. To the disgust of many democratic leaders the control of the state democratic ticket has fallen into the hands of men who make no secret of their purpose to wipe out the progressive laws that have been enacted in this state, and which have caused all legislators, state and national, to turn to Wisconsin for example and precedent.

There exists between the state and the county tickets but one bond of interest. It lies in the fact that the men who are running for county office on the republican ticket are men who have given and are giving aid to the progressive state program, while their opponents are men who in one way and another—some of them in every way—have opposed the progressive legislation put forth by past administrations. That is the relative position of the respective members of the two county tickets today, for the democratic politicians of the county are making a noble effort to swallow Karel and his reactionary program for the sake of "harmony."

The Tribune believes in the progressive program, and therefore it feels obligated to support for the county administrative offices those men who are part and parcel of the progressive movement, provided they offer to the public promise of a suitable degree of efficiency in the offices to which they aspire. In the present instance we believe the progressive republican ticket, as a ticket and as individuals, offers even more in the way of businesslike administration of county affairs than does its opponent, and therefore we shall urge its election.

PLAN TO REGULATE THE PRICE OF GOLD

A plan for international regulation of the price of gold has been proposed by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university, before the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce, in session at Boston. It was the contention of this speaker that fluctuations in money value—so to speak—is directly connected with and largely due to fluctuations in the world's production of gold, the basic element of the currency of practically all modern nations. The more gold produced, in other words, the cheaper the basic gold dollar becomes in comparison with other commodities, including the price of labor. Which, of course, upholds the argument of those who contend that present prevailing high prices all over the world are directly due to a steady increase in the world's output of gold for several years past.

Professor Fisher, however, believes this is a thing that could be and should be regulated by nations through international agreement, and the plan he proposes is simplicity itself. He would restore the old law of seigniorage, under which a government imposes a charge on the producer or owner of gold bullion for converting it into coin, and he would have this seigniorage regulated by an "official index number of the average price level of all other stable commodities." In other words, when the relative price of gold is low, as measured by the average price of other commodities, the bullion owner would receive less for his bullion, thereby tending to restrict the production of gold until a stable level was restored. And at all times, so Professor Fisher claims, the tendency would be to keep the gold dollar, or other unit of currency, on a stable basis, at the same time leaving separate commodities subject to the usual influences of supply and demand.

The theory is an ingenious one, to say the least, and is likely to attract the attention of financial experts all over the world. The present system is concededly imperfect, for it not only offers a premium to the gold bullion producer, when the relative price of gold is low, but imposes a double burden on the public generally by unduly encouraging gold production at the very time when commodity prices are being forced upward through an already too plentiful supply of gold. The proposed plan of relief is therefore worth considering, and it is not unlikely the time will come when something of this kind will be actually undertaken by the leading nations of the world.

WHO IS MR. PERKINS? HE'S FOR ROOSEVELT

Who is George W. Perkins? Here is the answer, which an eastern exchange has cut from the pages of the report of the steel investigating committee of the house of representatives:

Director of the United States steel corporation.
Chairman of finance committee and director of International Harvester company.
Director of Astor Trust company.
Director of Bankers' Trust company.
Director of Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad company.
Director Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railroad company.
Director Erie Railroad company.
Director German-American Insurance company.
Director German Alliance Insurance company.
Director International Mercantile Marine company.
Director Marquette and Bessemer Dock and Navigation company.
Director National City bank of New York.

Trustee of New York Trust company.
Director of Northern Pacific Railroad company.
Chairman of board, Pere Marquette Railroad company.

Nearly all of these companies control or own a large number of other companies.
Mr. Perkins is a shrewd man. He has millions of dollars invested in the various corporations and trusts above enumerated. Several of them are now being prosecuted by the Taft administration. Is he financing Mr. Roosevelt's campaign in order to have in the White house a friend or an enemy? William Allen White of Kansas in an appeal for contributions to the third campaign fund, said:

"The men who finance the campaign control the administration."
Does the country want an administration which is controlled by a director in fifteen different trusts and corporations?

GREAT CUSTODIANS OF "LAW AND ORDER"

Now and then a fight within the camp gives us a flash at the alarming conditions that obtain on the "inside" of police service in the big cities.

The case of Lieutenant Becker, of New York, is in point. No one who has read the evidence doubts that this "guardian" of the people's homes was in league with the worst of New York's grafters and cutthroats, and that it was he who inspired one of the most brutal murders in the history of the Gotham tenderloin.

The daring of the crime—his order to do murder "in the presence of the patrolmen"—indicates the strength with which felony is entrenched within the supposed fortress of law and order.

It remains to be seen whether the resources of the "gang" are sufficient to buy or intimidate a jury. Also, one wonders to what extent perjury may prove effective in the defense of men of Becker's stripe and influence.

Insist that every man who runs for office on the plea that he will help repeal some law shall offer some sound substitute for that law.

It cannot be denied that ex-Senator Thurston made a decided impression upon the community.

It becomes daily more apparent that not many voters are going to be hood-winked.

A Parable

Frederick W. Taylor, the advocate of scientific management, said the other day in Philadelphia:
"Two men stood watching a steam shovel at work. With a clatter and a roar the shovel bit into a steep bank, closed on a carload of earth and dumped it onto a waiting freight train."

"It drives me wild," said the first onlooker, "to see that monster taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Look at it. Why, it's filling up those flat cars faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels could do it."

"But the other onlooker shook his head and answered:
"See here, mister, if it would be better to employ a hundred men with picks and shovels on this job, wouldn't it be better still, by your way of thinking, to employ a thousand men with forks and tablespoons?"

Optimists

For noncommittal brevity of speech, commend us to the Yankee lord of the soil. One such, who was obliged to make a physician daily visits had an unvarying answer to the question, "How do you feel today?"

"Well," he would reply, showing as little interest in the subject as possible, "I ain't no wuss."
Further than that he wished to say nothing, and it took the cunning of a serpent to discover his real feelings.

A man who was knocked down in the street by a snowslide, was assailed by a sympathizing crowd with condolence and question.
"Did it hurt you?" inquired one of his rescuers, as he brushed the snow from the clothes of the well powdered victim.

"Well," was the cautious answer, "it ain't done me no good."—Argonaut.

Why He Wanted to Know

The man in the upper berth leaned over its edge, and jamming his frown firmly down on his brow, cried in a harsh coarse voice that was audible above the rattle and rumble of the engine:

"Hi, you, down there. Are you rich?"
"Hey?" ejaculated the man in the lower berth, almost swallowing his Adam's apple. "Whizzer mazzar?"

"I say are you rich?"
"What's that, sir? Rich? What do you mean by waking me up in the middle of the night to ask me such a question as that?"

"I want to know—that's why."
"Well, then, confound you, I am rich. Now I hope your curiosity is satisfied and you will let me go to sleep."

"Very rich?"
"Millionaire, confound you. Now shut up, and—"

"Well, then, why in torment don't you charter a whole train to do your snoring in?"—Searchlight.

One on Worthington

A story that caused much amusement was told around the ticker in Wall street offices concerning B. A. Worthington, president of the Chicago & Alton railroad.

In the summer of 1911 Mr. Worthington took his family to a farm house in Indiana where quiet and rest seemed to be assured. Close by, however, was a pig sty, the presence of which was indicated under certain wind conditions. Mr. Worthington planned to go there again this year, but wrote the farmer that the pigsty would have to be attended to before he engaged accommodations.

The farmer's reply was brief: "Can accommodate you all right. There have been no hogs on the place since you left."—New York Telegram.

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty, and makes it grow.

FIRST TO DECLARE WAR ON THE TURKS

King and Queen of Montenegro.

In view of the fact that Montenegro is no larger than a handful of counties in an American state, it may be imagined that it took some nerve for King Nicholas of that little kingdom to declare war on the Turks. However, before he did this bold thing Nicholas had assurances from the other Balkan states and from Greece that they would join him soon. Montenegro's excuse for declaring war against Turkey was a long standing quarrel over the boundary question.

HE COMES UP SMILING

Copyright: Bohls-Merrill Co.

"Father," she asked, "what's the matter? Have your sins found you out?"

The general waited for the slatternly maid-servant to give them their breakfast and leave the room before he spoke.

"We have been robbed," he said calmly, casually, as one would mention the weather. His tones implied that he was perfectly willing to listen to reason, but that he knew who the thief was and anything stated to the contrary was not reason.

"I spend my whole life, father," said Henrietta, "finding the articles you have been robbed of. Your system is all right. You have a place for everything, but you never remember the place."

The Watermelon pulled out the linings of his empty pockets and held out his wrists that they might see the cuffs tied together by a bit of string.

Henrietta and Billy stared.

"I have never had a thief in my room," cried Billy. "I would like to see how it feels."

"I'm not robbed," said Henrietta, making a hurried examination of the small-sized trunk she carried as a hand-bag.

"It's the stable-boy," said the general. "I noticed him carefully last night. He would not look any one in the face."

"He goes home every night," objected Henrietta. "Mrs. Parker told me so."

"That's no reason he couldn't come back," said the general.

"No," said Henrietta. "But because a boy won't look at you is no reason to say that he is a thief."

"He does look at you, anyway," said Billy innocently. "He looked at me."

"It was clever in him to take our check-books," said Bartlett.

"He will forge our names," declared the general. "I made out a check to pay for the board here, signed it, too, I remember, and then I found some cash and thought I would use that and went to bed and forgot to destroy the check. I know it was the stable-boy, for my room has a balcony in front, over the porch, and last night it was so warm I left the door open."

"Maybe it was," agreed Henrietta. "I hate to suspect him, though."

CHAPTER XVII.
Alphonse Rides Away

"The stable-boy would have access to the back of the house, too," said the general, who felt that if he had not become a general and had escaped being a master mechanic, he would have been a famous detective.

"Yes," agreed the Watermelon. "But I don't think it is the boy. I was out until after eleven, and just before I came in I saw him drive up with the girl. They had been out to some dance and he left her and drove on."

The girl appeared in the doorway wiping a plate, slipshod and awkward. Henrietta blushed, the general was painfully confused and the other three turned their attention hastily to their food.

"Want anything?" asked the girl. "No, thank you," replied Henrietta gently, feeling that in judging the stable-boy she had somehow injured the girl.

The girl lingered a moment, glanced significantly at the clock, and went out.

"Who could it be?" asked Billy, pleasantly excited.

"Why, this is terrible," said Henrietta. "If the boy didn't do it, there is no one else who could have, but the family."

"It looks that way," admitted the Watermelon.

"What shall we do?" gasped Billy. "What shall we pay them with?"

The slatternly girl again appeared in the doorway much to the general's nervousness.

"Want anything," she asked, and glanced again at the clock.

"No," said Henrietta. "No, thank you."

"I will speak to Parker," declared the general as the girl left.

"I wish you didn't have to," sighed Henrietta. "It's horrid to lose your money, but it must be so much worse to need money so that you would steal it."

"But that's the test of honesty," declared the general. "To need money and not steal."

"I know," admitted Henrietta, pushing aside her coffee cup. "I do admire strong people who can resist, but I'm so much sorer for the weak who can't. It's pitiful, that's what it is."

"Yes," cried Billy, as usual calm.

The Oldest Blood Disease

The most ancient history furnishes evidence that mankind suffered with Contagious Blood Poison. The disease has come down through all the ages and is to-day, as it has ever been, a scourge and blight upon humanity. The symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison are the same as in its earliest history, but its cure has now become an accomplished fact, whereas, it was once considered an incurable infection. S. S. S. is an antidote for the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, and cures it in all its forms and stages. S. S. S. possessing both purifying and tonic properties routes out all the poison, and at the same time builds up the general health. A person who has been cured of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S. need not fear a return of its symptoms at any future time. This great medicine checks the progress of the poison and gradually but surely all sores and eruptions heal, ulcerated mouth and throat pass away, the hair stops falling out, copper-colored splotches fade away, and when the blood is thoroughly purified no sign of the disease is left. ried away by her feelings. "Let's not say a thing."

The door opened for the third time, but instead of the ineffective maid-servant, the farmer's wife, fat, red-cheeked, good-natured, entered. She approached the table and smiled jovially from one to the other.

"I hope you liked everything," she said with a gentle hint in her tones that they had lingered around the breakfast table long enough.

"Have you had plenty, General? Can't I get you some more coffee, Miss Crossman?"

"No, thank you," said the general, confused and unhappy.

Mrs. Parker smiled still. "I am glad you liked everything. Your man should be back soon. He hasn't had any breakfast yet."

"Where'd he go?" asked the general, feeling that that was safe enough ground.

"My husband thinks that he went out in one of the automobiles very early, for he found one of them gone."

"Did your husband see him go?" asked Bartlett.

"Oh, no, but he thinks he must have gone because there is only one automobile."

"Oh, yes," said Henrietta, and stared at the others, fearful of reading her own crushing suspicion in their eyes.

Alphonse, the quiet, blase, peerless Alphonse? Could it be he? That Alphonse had gone for an early morning spin lured by the dew on the clover fields, by the sweet chorus of awakening birds, borne by the unsuppressible desire to see the shy, sweet advent of a new day creeping up the flushed and rosy sky, was wholly out of the question.

Alphonse's soul, in the early morning hours, was filled only with the beauty and glory of bed. The general always been forced to arouse his serving-man, and the process had often been painful, calling for sternness and suppressed wrath on the general's part.

Alphonse a thief was more believable than Alphonse getting out of bed uncalled.

Billy was the first to speak.

EXPECT JURY TO BE PICKED SOON

Second Venire of 350 Talesmen Is Called in the Salem Strike Trial

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 14.—When the trial of Joseph Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, resumed in superior criminal court today before Judge Quinn, District Attorney Henry C. Atwill and Fred Moore of California, head counsel for the defense, both expressed confidence that a jury would be obtained from the second venire of 350 talesmen within two days at the most. Ettor and Giovannitti are charged with accessories to the murder of Annie Polizzo, shot during a clash between strikers and police at Lawrence last winter. Caruso is charged with firing the shot which killed the woman.

Out of the first venire of 350 talesmen the four jurors were accepted: Christian W. Larson, barber, of Haverhill; Robert S. Stillman, carpenter, of Rockport; William P. Cressy, sailmaker, of Gloucester; George F. Burgess, leather maker of Lynn. Burgess was the 310th talesman examined. As soon as the new venire reported today, Judge Quinn began the work of questioning along the same lines he made when the proceedings opened on Sept. 30.

SOUSA'S BAND

The recent tour around the world by Sousa and his band was unique in more ways than one. The seasons of the year, for instance, included five winters. They sailed from New York in December, and were about nine weeks in Great Britain during the British winter; then went to South Africa and had four weeks' experience with the African cold weather. After a cold and blistering voyage from Capt Town to Hobart, Tasmania, they wished for spring, but were forced to put up with more winter when they crossed over to Australia and spent many shivering weeks in the four provinces of that continent, South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland. The next voyage took them to New Zealand, where they spent the month of August, the coldest time of the year there, and the last lap by water brought them back to the United States on the Pacific coast just at the beginning of last winter, and they finally reached New York again in December. When the band plays here tomorrow, matinee only,

FALLS FORTY FEET AND IS NOT HURT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 14.—Paul Egan, aged 27, 1320 Twenty-seventh street, plunged forty feet from the roof of a house at 516 State street and escaped death.

Egan had gone to the roof to do some work. He walked too near the cornice and fell over it. In his fall he turned over twice and landed on his back, as those famed for the "neck fall" are in the habit of landing.

People who witnessed the fall rushed to the spot, expecting to find Egan dead. They found him on his back, unable to move because of a slight fracture. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where the physicians said he would be able to leave in a few days.

O'BRIEN PRESENTS
GIANTS WITH GAME

in time. Hooper out, Marquard to Merkle to Fletcher to Merkle, when he was caught napping by the Rube's quick throw to first. Yerkes flied to Snodgrass. Speaker walked, after having drawn two strikes and fouling off two good ones. Speaker stole second, Marquard's throw being out of Meyers' reach, Lewis flied to Devore. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Marquard showed a lot of smoke in his opening tryout and Chief Meyers had the greatest difficulty in holding on to sizzling shots. The Sox evidently came up with instructions to make him work and it required twenty-two pitched balls to dispose of the half session.

NEW YORK—Devore out, Gardner to Stahl, hitting a bad one after the count as three and two. Doyle beat out a slow grounder to Yerkes. Doyle made a bluff steal, dashing toward second, forcing a throw out of Cady and then beat the throw back to first. Cady's throw to second as right in the bull's eye. Doyle stole second, getting a big lead on O'Brien's slow delivery and going into the bag with time to spare. Snodgrass fanned with three and two. Murray safe on a slow grounder to Wagner, on which the Sox shortstop came in lightning fast and made a desperate but vain try. Doyle took third on the play. Doyle scored when O'Brien made a balk toward first and Murray took second. O'Brien's balk was a bluff throw to first in the making of which he failed to take his foot off the rubber. McGraw instantly howled and Klem sustained him. Merkle doubled to right, scoring Murray. The first baseman's slam paralleled the right foul line about a foot inside the safe territory. Herzog doubled down the left foul line, scoring Merkle. Herzog's connection was with the first ball pitched. Meyers singled to Wagner in deep short, Herzog getting no farther than third. Meyers stole second, Herzog scoring. Cady threw to Yerkes to catch Meyers and Yerkes' throw to the plate was low and rolled to the stand. Fletcher and Meyers worked the squeeze play, the Indian scoring on Fletcher's drive down third base line. Fletcher was down third base line. Fletcher was hit, O'Brien to Stahl. Five runs, six hits, one error.

The Giants held a swatfest at the expense of Buck O'Brien in the opening stanza, touching the Boston spitballer for six safe slams, two of which were good for extra bases.

It was the first real batting of the series.

Second Inning
BOSTON—Gardner got a life when Marquard pulling down a bouncer bounced it over the lot for a couple of minutes, finally throwing wide when he did make the toss. Stahl singled, dropping a Texas leaguer back of second base. Wagner fanned, the third strike being called. Cady fouled out to Meyers with the count three and two. Engel batting for O'Brien. Engel doubled to left, scoring Gardner and Stahl. The smash hit the fence just inside the left foul line. Hooper fouled out to Meyers. Two runs, two hits, one error.

The Sox continued their policy of waiting them out on the Rube nearly every batter either getting a quick slash or taking three and two.

NEW YORK—Collins replaced O'Brien. The count against O'Brien was five runs, six hits in one inning. Marquard popped out to Stahl. Devore fanned on three pitched balls. Doyle flied out to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Collins was there in his opening round, disposing of the first three Giants up on five pitched balls, every one of which cut the plate.

Third Inning
BOSTON—Yerkes singled over second. Speaker flied to Snodgrass. Lewis fouled out to Devore. Gardner flied to Murray, who made the catch backed up against the right field fence. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The first two men in the second half of the third drew one and three, and the Rube continued to work out on each batter up. The game was the slowest of the series, but two and a half innings being played in the first hour.

NEW YORK—Snodgrass flied to Yerkes. Murray singled to right and was out trying to stretch it into a double. Hooper to Yerkes. Hooper's long shot to second was a splendid assist, Yerkes making the catch without moving out of his tracks. Merkle beat out an infield hit to Gardner. Merkle died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Giants' effort to rush the Boston defense fizzled miserably in their half of the third. Both Murray, who tried to stretch a single into a double, and Merkle who attempted to steal, were killed off at the second bag with an ease that made their attempts look amateurish.

Fourth Inning
BOSTON—Stahl beat out a slow grounder to Herzog, getting the benefit of a hair line decision for which Evans was hissed, the first adverse demonstration against an umpire made during the series. Cady's long fly to Snodgrass was pulled down by the center fielder, who made a wonderful running catch against the fence—a fitting companion piece for Devore's stellar stunt that snatched the Giants' victory at Boston. It was the first piece of brilliant work contributed by the Giant infielder during the series. Cady's single to right, a fly dropped back of Murray, Stahl going to left. Collins hit into a double play, Cady being nipped, Fletcher to Doyle, the latter throwing to Merkle for the put out on Collins. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Sox switched their style of attack on Marquard during the fourth smashing the first ball over. The shift promised to net runs until a splendid double play, coupled with a sensational catch by Snodgrass disposed of the side.

NEW YORK—Herzog flied to Speaker. Meyers tripled to left center, a smash which would have been good for an easy home run for a fast runner. Fletcher flied to Speaker, whose throw to Cady chased Meyers back to third after he had started for home. The Indian's play was coached by McGraw, who refused to let the catcher take a chance against Speaker's justly celebrated throwing arm. Marquard out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, one hit, one error.

The Indian's hard slam in the Giants' half of the fourth should have given them another run when Fletcher's long fly went to deep center, but when the Indian failed to come home on the play the lights dimmed and were snuffed by Marquard's easy out.

Fifth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper flied to Murray, close to the right grand stand wall. Yerkes out on a fly in the same territory. Murray landing the second one without shifting his position. Speaker flied to Herzog. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Sox again started in to clout the first ball and the first snappy half of the game resulted, as every smash went into a Giant's outstretched mitt.

NEW YORK—Devore dropped a safe one back of second. Doyle popped out to Wagner. Snodgrass got a hand for his spectacular catch when he came to bat and responded by sending a line fly to Hooper, whose throw to Stahl doubled Devore at first.

First, Devore misjudged the ball, thinking it was safe and was half way to third when Hooper caught the ball. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Giants tried desperately for a rally in the fifth when Devore was safe, but Collins was going good and disposed of the top of the Giants' batting order with ease.

Sixth Inning
BOSTON—Lewis fouled out to Meyers. Gardner fanned. Stahl fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard had struck his stride in the first half of the sixth and was winding his fast ones over with smoke that would have made Joe Wood envious. He retired the first three Sox up, the last two on strikeouts, Stahl himself being killed out with three balls, all directly over the plate. It was easily the Rube's best inning.

NEW YORK—Murray flied to Hooper. Merkle popped out to Stahl. Herzog got a life and Cady an error when the latter muffed a high pop foul. Both Cady and Gardner went after it and both stopped before getting under it. Herzog flied to Yerkes. No runs, no hits, one error.

Collins exhibited good control and kept the Giants in the hole most of the time. Herzog was the only batter in this inning who appeared to have a chance, and his final smash was an easy out.

Seventh Inning
BOSTON—Wagner out, Marquard to Merkle. Cady flied to Snodgrass. Collins flied to Murray, close to the right field fence. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard retired the side on seven pitched balls and each of three men up smashed the latter hard but in every instance the hits went directly to waiting Giant fielders.

NEW YORK—Meyers out, Collins to Stahl. Fletcher flied to Speaker. Marquard flied to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For the sixth consecutive inning, Collins disposed of the first three

Giants with the assistance of his able team mates, but eighteen men having faced him during the six innings he was in the box.

Eighth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper flied to Snodgrass. Yerkes' slow grounder was just beyond Doyle's reach and counted for a single. Speaker flied to Murray. Lewis flied to Murray. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giant outfielders were again busy this session, Marquard putting them over the plate and trusting to the outfielders to pull them down.

NEW YORK—Devore out, Collins to Stahl. Doyle fouled out to Cady. Snodgrass beat out a slow one to Yerkes. Murray up. Snodgrass died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
BOSTON—Gardner flied to Snodgrass. Stahl flied to Murray. Wagner out, Herzog to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BRIDGIE WEBBER

the records from the conspirators' own lips, he said he would introduce the independent evidence to make their story material. Whitman insisted just before court opened that he had enough with who were not a part of the alleged murder conspiracy to convince the jury that the amazing tale related by Rose was absolutely true. One of these witnesses is Mrs. Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, but the identity of the others will be withheld until they are actually sworn.

Should the state's chief witnesses stick to their stories and each confirm the other, then not alone Becker, but Mrs. Becker and a number of police witnesses will be called by the defense. McIntyre also has complete records compiled for him by private investigators of the characters of the state witnesses, which he will present if he believes they are needed to discredit the prosecution.

Because of the manner in which Goff is forcing the trial ahead, it was believed today that it would reach the jury some time next week, a record in this state. Should the verdict be adverse to Becker, there will certainly be an appeal and McIntyre already has more than 1,000 exceptions to Justice Goff's rulings, on which to carry the case up to the highest court.

Mrs. Rosenthal to Change?
District Attorney Whitman decided on Bridgie Webber as his chief witness today when he reached court. He said that he had heard a rumor that Mrs. Rosenthal was going to change her testimony when she was sworn. Whitman left the impression that he believed his chief witness had been reached by friends of the defense and he said that he had sent two of his assistants to her home to interview her.

According to Whitman and chief assistant, Frank Moss, should Mrs. Rosenthal fail to tell the same story to the jury in the Becker case that she told the grand jury and also made affidavit to in his office, she will first be confronted with this evidence and then prosecuted for perjury.

When the trial opened District Attorney Whitman suddenly shifted his plans and called as his first witness Winfield S. Sheehan, secretary to police Commissioner Waldo.

Before taking the bench, Judge Goff sent for District Attorney Whitman, Attorney McIntyre and some of the newspaper reporters. He said that he was convinced a number of police cards issued to permit newspaper representatives to pass through the police lines. As a result Goff said, admission hereafter would be on cards signed by him personally.

Threaten McIntyre
Justice Goff was especially angered over the fact that before Attorney McIntyre left the courtroom on Saturday night he was openly threatened by an unknown individual who told him that if he reflected on the wife of Jack Rose he would be killed.

Sheehan was called to identify certain police orders sent to Becker and Becker's signed replies, the intention of the state being to have Becker's signature established.

It was reported in the court room that Whitman had letters in his possession signed by Becker which he claimed would prove the partnership between Becker and Rosenthal, and the relations between Becker and Rose.

OF WILSON FUND

W. F. McCombs Tells the Clapp Committee All Details of Pre-Convention Struggle

PERSONALLY RESPONSIBLE

Many of the Campaign Debts Were Incurred by Manager in Private Capacity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A full and complete history of the funds used in the Wilson pre-convention campaign was today told the Clapp investigating committee by W. F. McCombs, campaign manager for the democratic nominee. That he personally underwrote the campaign for $10,000 and was personally responsible for many of the debts incurred was a statement by McCombs, who supplied a list of contributions and their makers, and a complete account of expenditures.

The Wilson campaign was "close to the edge" all the time, Mr. McCombs insisted, and greatly needed funds. Only $3,000 was spent in the state of Illinois, the manager declared. The largest contribution was from a party of Princeton friends of the governor, $85,800.

McCombs Called
William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, the first witness called before the Clapp committee today, presented a detailed list of contributions to Governor Wilson's pre-convention battle.

McCombs said he knew nothing of 1904 or 1908 contributions.

"I began the campaign about June 1, 1911," said McCombs. "It commenced in my office and for a month or so I bore all expenses out of my own pocket."

"I underwrote the campaign to the extent of $10,000 myself," said McCombs.

The total contributions were $193,665.81.

List of Contributions

McCombs read the list of contributions. They included:
F. Penfield of Philadelphia, $12,000; W. F. McCombs, $11,000; Charles R. Crane, $10,000; Cleveland M. Dodge and Princeton friends, $85,500; H. J. Barrett, $2,500; G. F. Handel, $2,500; R. Magill, $2,500; A. I. Elkins, $12,500; Harvey Thomas, $6,500; Daniel F. Platt, $2,500; Henry Morgenthau, $20,000; Joseph F. Guffey, $1,850; Samuel Untemyer, $25,000, and collected by Jacob M. Schiff, $2,500; Nathan Straus, $250.

"The campaign was not financed by any of the states," continued McCombs, submitting a detailed account of the entire Wilson expenses aggregating $208,183.05, a deficit of unpaid bills amounting to $14,617.

"The list includes practically all of the money used in the entire country, except that raised by the local and state committees," added McCombs. He gave the names of Wilson leaders in various states who would know of expenditures.

LOCAL CAMPAIGN
GETS WARMED UP

All Factions Including Moose Get Down to Real Business This Week

RECORD OF NEW JERSEY HERE

Senator Billed to "Answer La Follette" at Linker Hall Tomorrow Night

La Crosse county politics and politicians settled down to real business today and from the schedule prepared by the three chief contenders it is probable that this will be the busiest week in the campaign for all parties. Speeches will be made by both democrats and republicans in nearly every town in the county and the bull moose bunch break into the game again with a rally at Linker's hall tomorrow evening. There will be no out-of-town speakers in this city except State Senator George L. Record, of New Jersey, who will expound the Roosevelt doctrines and Hamlin Garland of West Salem who will also speak in the interests of the bull moose campaign at Linker hall tomorrow night. Local speakers will take to the stump almost unanimously.

To Answer La Follette
Senator Record, according to members of the county committee "will answer La Follette" in his speech tomorrow night. He will be preceded and introduced by Hamlin Garland.

According to the democratic schedule, the first rally of the week will be held at West Salem when Judge Thomas H. Henry of Newark, New Jersey, will talk national issues. On Tuesday night C. L. Hood will speak on state questions in the Concordia hall in this city. Wednesday night O. R. Skaar and L. P. Benezet will address an audience in the town hall of Burns. City Attorney A. H. Schubert and Joseph Boschert will speak at the town of Rockland hall and P. W. Mahoney will close the week's program with a speech at Onalaska.

The republican activities as outlined by the county committee today will begin with a meeting of the North Side Republican club at Fjeldstad's hall tonight at which Otto M. Schlachach, candidate for district attorney will be the principal speaker. Ward committees of eight members each will be appointed at the meeting tonight to carry on the campaign on the north. Mr. Schlachach and Otto Bosshard, candidate for the assembly, will speak in several places in the county on state issues. They are scheduled to speak as follows:

Wednesday, the Ten Mile House on the Mormon Coulee road; Thursday, Barre Mills; Friday, the town hall of Burns and Saturday at Burr Oak.

Morris to Durand

Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris left for Durand today where he will deliver a speech this afternoon. He will speak Wednesday night at Eau Claire. Mr. Morris will speak in several of the larger cities of the state before his return to this county. Governor Francis E. McGovern will speak at the La Crosse Theater October 30 but as yet no other out of town speakers have been arranged for by the county committee. It is expected, however, that Senator R. M. La Follette will deliver an address here before the end of the campaign although no definite date for his appearance has been arranged.

TERM OF CIRCUIT
COURT POSTPONED

The fall term of circuit court was postponed until November 12 by Judge E. C. Hikebe today in compliance with a petition which was signed by nearly all of the attorneys of this city. The petition was circulated and presented to the court by George Gordon and Woodward and Lees. So many of the attorneys who have business in the circuit court this term are scheduled to take part in the political campaign that the postponement of court will probably meet with general approval. The Vernon county term will be postponed until December.

Rube, Who Won New York's Only Victory, to Face Wood Today

SOX WIN WILL END SERIES

Boston Plays Below Form, but Giants' Fielding Is Ragged so Sox Get Jump

(By Grantland Rice)
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A series of fluttering duck fits at the start, abnormal breaks by both teams—a general helter-skelter with both clubs in the air—and then, with both settled to normal, every day speed, Boston had the class as the early dope has showed, and jumped to the front.

Which is exactly the answer, genial reader, to the highly delicate situation in which the Giants now find themselves after a week's play for the championship of the world. They had their chance in the first three games, with the Red Sox reeling to jump far and away beyond all danger. But while the Red Sox were tottering and playing lop-sided ball in certain spots, the Giants were cracking with even a louder crash, befuddled and muddled their opportunities and today are upon the thin rim of another world's series defeat. For unless Rube Marquard can stop Joe Wood this afternoon—Good night; likewise bum voyage and au revoir.

By the time Manhattan's entry had settled back of first class pitching, Boston's entry had settled likewise and Boston's entry carried enough class to scramble to within easy picking distance of the plum. Where the break is even, the class will tell and Boston in the tight spots has cut in with the class. Hence the present standing of the clubs.

The Situation
What may take place today or later on rests entirely with the boxed details, subject to a later edition.

We can only top with what has happened and build upon this any prophecies for the future which is now likely to be brief—a short future but a merry one, as you might say.

Before the first battle last Tuesday, the early dope showed Boston leading on form. We rather expected Boston to win, despite the uncertainty of any short series, and 70 per cent of those trailing the game thought likewise.

Then came the shift where we figured New York with a luscious chance to upset the dope. The Red Sox, save in defensive play, were clearly below expected form. Neither Wood nor Collins, her two mainstays through the year, looked to be as impressive as they were tipped to be. The deadly sureness of the Red Sox team in almost every department which featured their play through the American league fight, was evidently out of gear.

And as McGraw had three fine pitchers in tiptop shape, the Polo outlook assumed a highly vermillion hue, fringed with tints of gold.

When you hear a man complaining that he hasn't a friend in the world it's a pretty safe bet that he doesn't deserve any.

Give a hustler half a chance and he'll take it all.

Other people's money is the root of much contention.

CAPTAIN WIEBRECHT IS HURT

Halfback's Injured Shoulder May Keep Him Out of Eau Claire Game Saturday

The high school football team added another victory to its list Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Tomah Indian football team at League park by the score of 53 to 0. During the first half the Indians were entirely at the mercy of the lighter high school team and could do nothing with the offense put up by the highs. After about three minutes of play Capt. Wiebrecht went over for the first touch down of the game. Strum failed at goal. From then on the highs had everything their own way, skirting the Indians' ends for gains of ten, twenty and thirty yards and scoring touchdowns at will.

The highs received their first serious setback of the season when Captain Wiebrecht tore a ligament in his shoulder during the first half. It is not known how serious the injury will prove to be but there is a possibility that he will not be able to be at his position in the Eau Claire game Saturday which loss will be a great handicap to the highs. Wiebrecht left Saturday's game in the first half after he was hurt.

The first half of the game was featured by long gains by Wiebrecht, Gardner, Strum, Harris, McCahan and Dickens. These men took the ball from formations and forward passes and carried it for long gains. McCahan and Dickens were able to negotiate long runs from tackle around plays and McCahan went over for one touchdown on this play. Gardner had the Indians completely bewildered with his dodging style of running and kept the spectators in a flurry of excitement whenever he carried the ball. Harris did some excellent running around the ends, the Indians being unable to tackle this speedy runner. Once he nailed a fumble by Dickens and amid great cheering ran about forty yards for a touchdown. Coach Seiler gave many of the reserves a chance to play in the first half and at the end Dickens, Gardner and Strum were the only regulars left in the lineup.

The few times that the Indians had possession of the ball in the first half they were unable to make their downs once and had to punt after a few attempts to circle the local's ends and to pierce the line.

The Aborigines came back in the second half and in the third quarter played the locals to a standstill. They made consistent gains off tackle and through the line time and time again on attempts to score on drop kicks. The feature of the game was a triple pass play pulled off by the Indians which netted them several long gains. The play completely fooled the locals and the Tomahites were able to work it effectively three times.

The highs did not use many subs in the second half and were forced to play hard all the time to keep the visitors from scoring. They only scored one touchdown in their period of play and were not able to make such long gains as they did in the first half. The locals play at Eau

CUBS BEAT WALSH IN SLAB DUEL

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Chicago National league club made it two straight wins from the local club of the American league on Sunday, in the series which is to decide the championship of the city of Chicago. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of the Nationals.

Comiskey's American league club was the first to score, but the Cubs won out by a batting rally in the seventh. Schulte started with a home run, after which Evers singled and took second on Sullivan's poor return fly to center, but Bodie let the ball drop into the crowd. Evers scoring and Archer going to second from where he counted on an out and Rath's error.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Walsh and Reulbach. Walsh allowed seven hits, two of which were doubles and one home run, while Reulbach was touched up for eight, four of which were doubles.

Score: Nationals . . . 00000130x—4 7 0
Americans . . . 000001100—2 8 2

KENOSHA HIT BY HEAVY FLOODS

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 14.—The worst floods known in Kenosha in many years followed the rain Friday night. At 4 o'clock Saturday morning a dike which had been built to protect a receiving well for the main sewer gave way and flooded more than a hundred acres in the south and west part of the city. In many places houses were completely surrounded by water and men going to work were forced to crawl out of upper windows and wade through water three and four feet deep. Women and children were taken from the houses in boats.

PORTAGE BEATEN BY TOMAH 20-0

Tomah Outplays Opponents and Wins Game by Making Three Touchdowns

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 14.—The Tomah highs took revenge on the Portage eleven Saturday by defeating them 20 to 0, thus evening up the score which Portage made on Tomah's team in 1910. Tomah won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. This was a good thing because a strong west wind was blowing at the start of the game. In the first quarter Tomah was within fifteen yards of the Portage goal and Higgins threw a pass to Yeager who was out on a "shoe string" but fumbled it making it an incomplete pass in an open field. This destroyed Tomah's first opportunity to score. In the second quarter Tomah carried the ball for five yards nearly every down and finally Wright the big tackle, carried the ball over on a tackle back play. Yeager missed the goal. Tomah kicked off to Portage who punted after a few downs. A Portage and recovered it and when within thirty yards of Tomah's goal, Warren, Portage's left half attempted a drop kick but it sailed to the right of the posts.

In the third quarter neither team scored, although Portage had the ball on Tomah's fifteen yard line, but they were held for downs and Tomah carried the ball back to the center of the field. A forward pass was attempted but Stegeman, the Portage half, intercepted and after a few line bucks time was called.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Sicksles, the high school Indian, was substituted for Verick at full. He made things hot for Portage, intercepting passes and hitting the line for ten yards every time. Finally he broke away and ran twenty yards through the Portage team scoring the second touchdown. Yeager missed goal. Portage kicked off. Sicksles received it and placed the ball in the center of the field. With three minutes of play Strachan, Tomah's quarter, sent a forward pass to Battalia, who made a spectacular leap into the air and ran twenty yards for another touchdown. Yeager kicked goal. Tomah kicked off and soon after time was called.

MILWAUKEE GREEKS LEAVE FOR FRONT
Sped by the good wishes of Milwaukee, which were extended to them by Mayor Bading and Alderman John Koerner and the music of the Star Spangled Banner, 552 Greeks left the city at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, bound for Greece and war.

The departing patriots were escorted to the station by more than 2,500 countrymen.

Early Sunday morning a mass was offered in the Greek church for the cause of Greece and the safe return of those who are to battle for the mother country.

PIRATES' PROTEST UPHELD BY LYNCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Pittsburg's protest against Chicago's victory in the game of October 2 was upheld by President Lynch of the National league in a decision made public Sunday night and the game was thrown out of the record, thus changing slightly the league's standing. The protest was based on the fact that Catcher Cotter of Chicago was batting out of his turn when he hit a single which won the game in the tenth inning. The Pirates then beat out the Cubs for second place by a game and a half.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14.—After two hours' hard fighting, an estimated $75,000 fire in the Willis block on Third street, near Wabasha, was gotten under control by the entire downtown force of fire fighters shortly before midnight last night. Early this morning firemen were still battling with bursts of flame which from time to time sprang up from the ruins of what for a long time has been one of St. Paul's landmarks.

run. This wasn't all, for, in the middle of that wild melee and medley, O'Brien balked. Doyle home with the first run, and Meyers and Herzog finished a double steal. In the second round Marquard errored on Gardner's tap. Stahl singled and Engel's double linked to Devore's boot cost two runs. But from that point on, the two south-paws worked in matchless fashion and the scoring closed abruptly. This game was the last one to be fought in New York. Tomorrow's game goes to Boston, and when the flip was made for the deciding battle in case the Giants won again Tuesday, Boston won the toss and gets two games at home in order to decide the series. This would leave the Red Sox five games at home and three for the Giants should Jeff Tesreau triumph over Joe Wood. The Giants settled in much better fashion today and played sure, sharper, more consistent ball.

BRUSH STADIUM, NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—They were waiting for Rube Marquard today, the depressed fan legion of Polodrom, which gathered early to sit in on the Giants' last stand, their last rally against an overwhelming lead where defeat today would close out the battle for the year and leave the Red Sox triumphant successors to the Mackinn machine of 1910-1911.

And the main hinge of McGraw's wry necked outplay was now the sole blockading feature before the Red Sox. Remembering the Rube had wrenched off the only Giant victory gained out of five contests, they looked to him to lead his pals back into the fight again by coming through with another conquest, where Tesreau and Mathewson would then take a combined shot at the championship and look for better support.

Shortly after both clubs had reached the field, Secretary Heydler of the National league arrived with the statement that in case New York won today the next game would be fought in Boston. Also in case New York should be victorious it was proclaimed that the national committee would gather immediately after today's contest and flip to decide the location of Wednesday's contest in order to have all details settled in case the Giants should tear off two straight and prolong the fight.

The loyalty of the Giant fans failed to stand the test and five minutes before the call of play there were yawning patches of vacant seats in the bleachers and unpopulated sections of both wings of the grand stand, with indications that the attendance would be the lightest of the series at the Polo grounds.

For the first time during the series, the New York management had provided a band to ginger things up, but the efforts of the musicians cut little figure and it was quite an undemonstrative throng that settled back to be shown.

Early unofficial estimates of the attendance fixed 33,000 to 34,000.

ITALY REPORTED DONE WITH WAR

Turkey and Representatives of Rome Have Reached Terms, Is News

BULGARIA AND SERBIA BEGIN

Porte Refuses Czar's Demands and Moves Upon Frontier of the Servian Kingdom

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Turkey and Italy have signed terms, according to a special from Berlin to the Exchange Telegraph company today.

SERBIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 14.—Fierce fighting between Bulgarian and Turkish frontier guards at Egripalanka was reported here today.

Three Bulgarian armies were contemplating in the meantime an extensive campaign by the middle of the week.

One force, it was said, will hold the mountain defiles by which a Turkish invasion might be expected. A second, reinforced by a division of Servians, is to attack Adrianople. A third, also supported by Servian troops, it was reported, would march on the Albanian town of Uckub.

Macedonian rebels against the sultan's rule, it was stated here today, have already occupied Kresna Pass to guard against a Turkish flanking movement against the Bulgarians and Servians.

Refuses Bulgarian Demands
BERLIN, Oct. 14.—Turkey has announced that it cannot agree to Bulgaria's demands, according to a message from Constantinople. Declarations of war are expected tomorrow.

An Austrian military movement is in progress toward the Russian frontier. The Berlin Stock exchange was weak today in anticipation of hostilities.

Servia Invaded
BELGRADE, Oct. 14.—Turkish troops invaded Servia near Ristosaz early today. A Servian force opposed their advance and a battle began. At latest accounts it was still raging.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 14.—The Turkish cabinet today had completed the draft of its reply to the powers' note, delivered through Austria, concerning the Balkan situation. The answer is an emphatic refusal to comply with the allies. Turkey proposes reforms in the sultan's European provinces, but by no means of the humiliating nature required by the alliance. It was expected the combination would be handed to the Austrian ambassador today.

PODGORITZA, Oct. 14.—Montenegrins wounded in battle with the Turks south of here are suffering frightfully for lack of medical attention. Several hundred had arrived from the front today and there are but three or four surgeons to care for them. The food supply is almost wholly exhausted.

MRS. ROSENTHAL TO CHANGE

Rumor Is Out that Wife of Victim Has Been Approached and Will Switch to Derense

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Bridgie Webber, gambler, today corroborated in every detail the story of Police Lieutenant Becker's planning the death of Herman Rosenthal, told the jury Saturday by Jack Rose. He told how Becker insisted over remonstrances that the gambler must be "croaked."

He described the scenes immediately preceding the shooting, when the gunmen gathered in his poker room preparatory to going out after their quarry.

That the original plan concocted by Jack Rose and Becker was to have Rosenthal slain in his (Webber's) poker room was also declared by the witness.

Has Corroboration
When the trial of Police Lieut. Becker for the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal, was resumed before Justice Goff today, District Attorney Whitman was prepared to offer the corroboration needed so that Jack Rose's murder tale might be believed by the jurors.

First, however, he planned to call Vallon, Webber and Schepps. Then, with the tale of the conspiracy on (Continued on Page Six.)

CITY WILL GAIN BY INCOME TAX

Figures Submitted by Income Tax Assessor Show that City Gains $3,159.80

CITY INCOME TAX $50,000

After State and County's Share Is Deducted Income Tax Is $35,000

According to figures submitted by J. E. Keizer, income tax assessor, today the city will gain $3,159.80 in revenue by the passage of the income tax law instead of losing $17,717.23 as claimed by City Commissioner Joseph Frisch.

According to Mr. Frisch, the exemptions under the income tax law amounted to $2,459,226 and at the rate of 21 mills this would have produced $51,643.74. Mr. Frisch then deducted $35,000, the city's share of the income tax, leaving $17,717.23, which he claims is lost through the income tax law.

Income Tax Assessor Keizer's figures show, however, that instead of exemptions amounting to $2,459,226 they were only $2,166,000. The revenue on this at 21 mills is $45,486, so that instead of the revenue lost through exemptions amounting to $51,643.74 it amounted to but $45,486.

According to the estimate of the state tax commission the income tax in the city of La Crosse amounted to $50,000. In placing the income tax in the city budget an allowance of thirty per cent, the state and county share of the income tax, was made, placing the city's share at $35,000. The city would have received $45,486 in revenue by taxing the exempt property and deducting thirty per cent for the state and county (this would have left but $31,840.20, or $3,159.80 less than was derived from the income tax. In his estimate Mr. Frisch did not make allowance for state and county's share of the income tax being already deducted.

Exemptions $2,166,000
Mr. Frisch submitted the following statement of exemptions:
Gold watches .....$ 3,695
Pianos .....130,525
Monies and credits .....1,879,329
All other pers. property .....45,547
Total .....$2,549,106

The item of all other personal property last year amounted to $445,547 and Mr. Frisch included all of that class of property as exempt. Mr. Keizer today declared that only certain kinds of that class of property were exempt and that instead of the exemptions on that class of property amounting to $445,547, it amounts to $152,409 or $293,138 less than the figures submitted by Mr. Frisch.

REPEATS CHARGE AGAINST MUNSON

Gays Mills Farmer Declares Crawford County District Attorney Is Guilty of Malfeasance

HE REFUSES TO RETRACT

That Statement Is True to Be Defense in the $10,000 Libel Suit

The preliminary hearing in the Munson vs. Anderson libel suit, which will be tried in circuit court of Crawford county this fall was held before Judge John Brindley in county court today and according to the testimony given by Alec Anderson, of Gays Mills, the defendant in the suit, sensational developments may be expected when the case goes to trial.

The suit was brought against Anderson by M. J. Munson, district attorney of Crawford county, who asks for a judgment of $10,000 for the alleged publishing of a statement by Anderson that he was guilty of malfeasance in office.

That Anderson will not deny that he published the charge against Mr. Munson but that he will maintain that the charges against Munson are true, became evident under the questioning of the attorneys in the case in county court today.

Anderson declared on the stand today that Munson was guilty of malfeasance in office and should be removed. He said that he had given Munson about sixty dollars to prosecute a case against a Gays Mills saloonkeeper, whom he accused of having improper relations with his wife. He made the charge that instead of prosecuting the case Munson helped the saloonkeeper to dispose of his property and escape to Canada. He declared that Munson offered to pay back his money if he would keep quiet about it.

McConnell and Schweizer are the attorneys for Munson and Wolfe and Wolfe for the defense.

CONVICTS ESCAPE AND SHOOT UP WYOMING TOWN

Two Parties of Prisoners Make Getaway from the Rawlins Penitentiary

TWO CITIZENS ARE KILLED

Inhabitants Shot Down by Desperadoes When They Attempt to Interfere

FOURTEEN STILL AT LARGE

Two of Criminals Are Slain but Rest Have Made Off Into the Hills

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 14.—With two persons known to be dead, two others reported slain, and one mortally wounded in the open country about Rawlins, Wyo., excitement was at fever heat all over the state today, as the result of last night's riot of convicts at the state penitentiary, resulting in the second successful prison delivery there in 33 hours.

Of the eight convicts who overpowered their guards and escaped last night, one, Antonio Paseo, a lifer, is known to have been shot down. Another convict, name unknown, is said to have been slain outside of Rawlins by a posse of guards, and a third is reported mortally wounded.

Shoot Citizens
Charles Strasser, a Rawlins barber, attempted to stop the fleeing convicts when they left the prison, and was shot through the temple by Paseo, dying instantly.

Another citizen, a hunter, name unknown, is said to have been slain by convicts outside of Rawlins when the fugitives held up a hunting party and seized their weapons and ammunition.

There have been two deliveries since Saturday and much confusion exists.

Late Saturday Butch Dalton, a lifer, and 19 other convicts overpowered the inner guards at the penitentiary and escaped. They spread out over town, and then went into the surrounding country. Warden Alston ordered out a half dozen posses to search for them, and by noon Sunday ten had been recaptured.

Paseo Leads Escape

The absence of so many guards from the prison was the direct cause of the second escape. Antonio Paseo, a bad man of the most desperate type, organized a party of prisoners, and early last night eight of them rushed the inner guards, overpowered the turnkey, climbed the walls and quickly walked away. Before going, however, they armed themselves with butcher knives, hatchets and cleavers from the kitchen.

The party remained together, and started through the residence section of Rawlins. Prison yard guards gave chase. Charles Strasser saw the fugitives and tried to capture them. They fled from him at first, until they reached the ward of Bert Talbert. Paseo slashed Talbert across the throat, took his revolver and shot Strasser. He then took Strasser's ammunition and revolver and escaped. Guards overtook them near the railroad head off. The others fled through the wards firing as they ran. Three were captured. Four reached the outskirts and got into the hills, a large party of guards and citizens pursuing.

South of Rawlins, the four fleeing fugitives took possession of a sheep camp, compelling R. J. Daley to drive them southward. When overhauled they unbitched the horses, took arms and ammunition from the wagon and escaped in the darkness, two on each horse. These four are heavily armed, and are sure to give desperate battle if cornered. It is feared they may effect a junction with the ten fugitives led by Dalton.

Dalton Band Desperate

The Dalton fugitives are most desperate, which was shown at noon yesterday, when a party of them, believed to number six, were trapped in a canyon south of Rawlins. They had built a barricade of rocks and fired upon the guards from behind this, forcing the pursuers to retreat. Meantime, a condition bordering on panic exists at Rawlins. Last night heads of families, fearing the fugitive convicts might seek refuge in their homes, sat up all night with rifles across their knees. Scenes rivaling those during the days of the Indian uprisings thirty years ago were witnessed.

Mayor Anderson and the council today appointed a posse of twenty picked gun fighters to watch the penitentiary so that in case of another jail delivery, the town will be safe. Three hundred citizens today organized themselves into a vigilance committee after patrolling the streets of Rawlins all night.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Letters are being sent out by the state department of insurance containing application blanks for state insurance and setting forth the plan and desirability of such insurance. Ekern.

Besides the application blank the letter contains a copy of the law passed at the last session of the legislature providing for this new departure by the state.

The letter accompanying the application blanks and the law reads: "Dear Sir:—

"Will you kindly return this sheet with the names of ten young men in your vicinity, 20 years of age or over, sound and in good health, who need and are in position to pay for a $1,000 policy of life insurance in the life fund of the state.

The application blank reads: "I consider making application for $1,000 or $500 insurance in the life fund of the state of Wisconsin on ordinary life, 20 payment life, 20 year endowment, endowment at age 55, term to age 65. Indicate amount and plan desired by underscoring. Thus: $1,000 ordinary life."

LAFITTE FOR WILSON

OREGON NOMINEE FOR G. O. P. ELECTOR REFUSES HONOR AND DECLARES FOR THE GOVERNOR

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 14.—William Harney of Burns, "the duke of Harney," is out for Woodrow Wilson.

He was nominated as a republican candidate for elector in the primaries, but declined the honor, and his declaration for the democratic candidate gives explanation for his refusal to take a place on the Taft ticket.

In a letter to Colonel C. E. S. Wood, Mr. Harney says he does not weigh party labels against principle. He is not going to support Taft because he believes the fight is between Wilson and Roosevelt, and he considers Roosevelt dangerous to the country.

TESREAU'S FAMILY WATCHES PITCHER

JRONTON, Mo., Oct. 14.—The Jeff Tesreau's younger brother will be glad when the world's series is over, for he has to walk eleven miles every night to get the score for his father.

Jeff's father, known as "Old Man" Tesreau in the community, lives in a cabin far back in the Ozark mountains with his son. Papers are slow in reaching him, so the younger brother hikes out every night for the score, especially if Jeff is billed to pitch.

Sitting in front of his cabin today "Old Man" Tesreau heard of Jeff's defeat yesterday. He whittled a stick and pulled away on a corn-cob pipe as the story of the game was told to him, then said:

VOTE FOR KAREL IS FOR REACTION

Last Issue of La Follette's Magazine Tells Voters of State of Conditions

McGOVERN IS FOR PROGRESS

Vote for Governor Is in Favor of Continued Advancement, Says Senator

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—That a vote for McGovern is in favor of continued advancement and is cast for the progressive movement, is a statement made by Senator La Follette in an editorial in his magazine last week. The editorial is entitled "To the Progressive Voters of Wisconsin," and reviews Karel's record in deadly parallel with that of McGovern. Says the editorial:

"The situation in Wisconsin remains unchanged. It is McGovern or Karel for governor. Between these two candidates, the progressive voters who, through the republican party, have made Wisconsin the beacon light of constructive self government, should have no difficulty in choosing. It is plainly a choice between progress and reaction, between general interest and special interest.

"McGovern, the republican candidate, stands on a platform in keeping with the principles upon which true representative government has been built, and pledging their further extension toward a complete political, educational and industrial democracy. Karel, the democratic candidate, stands on a platform which is a repudiation of the leadership of William Jennings Bryan and Woodrow Wilson; in fact the supporters of Karel are the enemies of Wilson and Bryan. McGovern has a record of real service, of faithful performance of his pledges, and of earnest cooperation with the legislature in carrying out the expressed will of the people. Karel's legislative record is a record of unbroken hostility to those vital measures which laid the foundation of Wisconsin's high governmental eminence. McGovern, on his record as governor, and his acceptance of the republican platform, is supported by the progressive republican leaders throughout the state who for years have helped bear the brunt of the struggle. Karel's backers are the undemocratic democrats and the Stalwart republican bosses.

"Wisconsin progressives resent and repudiate McGovern's course in waiting until he was safely nominated and then exhibiting the bull moose pin under his coat collar. They are expressing their resentment in no uncertain terms. They are expressing their resentment in no uncertain terms. But the bull moosing of McGovern should not subject him to punishment by Wisconsin voters in the coming election when the weight of such punishment would not fall upon him but upon the whole state. His declarations for Roosevelt and the steel trust 'legalized monopoly' program, have no immediate bearing upon the work of our state government during the next two years. The republican platform pledges which he, if elected, is in duty bound to fulfill, have naught of the bull moose taint, and his record of the past two years is sufficient warrant that he will not fall in his future fulfillment of present promises to the voters of Wisconsin.

"A vote for Karel is a vote for reaction and special interests. A vote for McGovern is a vote for continued advancement; it is a vote cast for the progressive movement."

MOOSER FOR WILSON

ALBANY, Oregon, Oct. 14.—"Governor Wilson is a high-minded gentleman and a man of great ability. He is a thorough progressive and if elected will, in my judgment, give the people a progressive administration."

This statement was made here today by John W. Campbell who is the Bull Moose candidate for congress in the first district of Oregon. Mr. Campbell's attitude towards Governor Wilson is typical of the position taken by large numbers of progressives in this state. It is conceded that the third-term candidate injured rather than helped his cause in Oregon, and as a result many who were disposed to vote for him are turning to Governor Wilson.

PROGRESSIVES WILL HAVE OUR SUPPORT
In the present campaign The Tribune will support the republican county ticket.
The campaign for state offices is
one of immense importance to the progressive cause. To the disgust of
many democratic leaders the control
of the state democratic ticket has fallen into the hands of men who
make no secret of their purpose to wipe out the progressive laws that have been enacted in this state, and
which have caused all legislators,
state and national, to turn to Wisconsin for example and precedent.
There exists between the state and
the county tickets but one bond of interest. It lies in the fact that the men who are running for county office on the republican ticket are men who have given and are giving
aid to the progressive state
program, while their opponents are
men who in one way and another—
some of them in every way—have
opposed the progressive legislation
put forth by past administrations.
That is the relative position of the
respective members of the two county tickets today, for the democratic
politicians of the county are making a noble effort to swallow Karel
and his reactionary program for the sake of "harmony."
The Tribune believes in the progressive program, and therefore it
feels obligated to support for the county administrative offices those
men who are part and parcel of the progressive movement, provided they
offer to the public promise of a suitable degree of efficiency in the offices to which they aspire. In the present instance we believe the progressive republican ticket, as a ticket
and as individuals, offers even more
in the way of businesslike administration of county affairs than does
its opponent, and therefore we shall
urge its election.

PLANS TO REGULATE
THE PRICE OF GOLD
A plan for international regulation
of the price of gold has been proposed by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale university, before the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce,
in session at Boston. It was the contention of this speaker that fluctuations in money value—so to speak—is directly connected with and
largely due to fluctuations in the world's production of gold, the basic
element of the currency of practically all modern nations. The more gold produced, in other words, the
cheaper the basic gold dollar becomes
in comparison with other commodities, including the price of labor.
Which, of course, upholds the argument of those who contend that present prevailing high prices all over the world are directly due to a steady
increase in the world's output of
gold for several years past.
Professor Fisher, however, believes this is a thing that could be
and should be regulated by nations
through international agreement,
and the plan he proposes is simple itself. He would restore the old law of seigniorage, under which a government imposes a charge on the
producer or owner of gold bullion
for converting it into coin, and he would have this seigniorage regulated by an "official index number of
the average price level of all other
stable commodities." In other words,
when the relative price of gold is
low, as measured by the average
price of other commodities, the bullion owner would receive less for
his bullion, thereby tending to restrict the production of gold until a stable level was restored. And at all times, so Professor Fisher
claims, the tendency would be to
keep the gold dollar, or other unit
of currency, on a stable basis, at the
same time leaving separate commodities subject to the usual influences
of supply and demand.
The theory is an ingenious one, to say the least, and is likely to attract the attention of financial experts all over the world. The present system is concededly imperfect,

for it not only offers a premium to
the gold bullion producer, when the
relative price of gold is low, but im-
poses a double burden on the public generally by unduly encouraging gold
production at the very time when
commodity prices are being forced
upward through an already too plentiful supply of gold. The proposed plan of relief is therefore worth
considering, and it is not unlikely
the time will come when something
of this kind will be actually under-
taken by the leading nations of the world.

WHO IS MR. PERKINS?
HE'S FOR ROOSEVELT

Who is George W. Perkins? Here
is the answer, which an eastern exchange has cut from the pages of
the report of the steel investigating committee of the house of representatives:
Director of the United States steel
corporation.
Chairman of finance committee
and director of International Harvesting company.
Director of Astor Trust company.
Director of Bankers' Trust company.
Director of Cincinnati, Hamilton
& Dayton Railroad company.
Director Cincinnati, New Orleans
& Texas Pacific Railroad company.
Director Erie Railroad company.
Director German-American Insurance company.
Director German Alliance Insurance company.
Director International Mercantile
Marine company.
Director Marquette and Bessemer
Dock and Navigation company.
Director National City bank of
New York.
Trustee of New York Trust company.
Director of Northern Pacific Railroad company.
Chairman of board, Pere Marquette Railroad company.
Nearly all of these companies
control or own a large number of
other companies.
Mr. Perkins is a shrewd man. He has millions of dollars invested in
the various corporations and trusts
are now being prosecuted by the Taft
administration. Is he financing Mr.
Roosevelt's campaign in order to have in the White house a friend or an enemy? William Allen White of Kansas in an appeal for contributions to the third campaign fund,
said:
"The men who finance the campaign control the administration."
Does the country want an administration which is controlled by a
director in fifteen different trusts
and corporations?

GREAT CUSTODIANS
OF "LAW AND ORDER"

Now and then a fight within the
camp gives us a flash at the alarming conditions that obtain on the "inside" of police service in the big cities.
The case of Lieutenant Becker, of
New York, is in point. No one who has read the evidence doubts that
this "guardian" of the people's homes
was in league with the worst of New York's grafters and cutthroats, and
that it was he who inspired one of
the most brutal murders in the history of the Gotham tenderloin.
The daring of the crime—of his
order to do murder "in the presence
of the patrolmen"—indicates the
strength with which felony is entrenched within the supposed fortress of law and order.
It remains to be seen whether the
resources of the "gang" are sufficient to buy or intimidate a jury. Also, one wonders to what extent perjury may prove effective in the defense of men of Becker's stripe and
influence.
Insist that every man who runs
for office on the plea that he will help repeal some law shall offer some
sound substitute for that law.
It cannot be denied that ex-Senator Thirston made a decided impression upon the community.
It becomes daily more apparent
that not many voters are going to be hood-winked.

and Wanton Wiles

Home, Sweet Home
My dad is on the warpath.
He says that he is bound To vote for Woodrow Wilson
For Wilson's safe and sound.
He's mighty touchy on it.
He's ready fer to fight;
A chip is on his shoulder.
Yes, morning, noon and night.

My grandpaw, he is eighty,
But full of fire and vim;
He says no darn perffessor.
Will get a vote from him.
He is an old line fighter.
On precedent he's daft;
No new ideas for grandpaw—
He's going to vote fer Taft.

My brother Bill's a bull moose,
No use to argue;
He is so darn progressive,
For T. R. he would die.
He's fighting every minute,
He yells, he shrieks,
And he breathes fire and brimstone
And sulphur when he speaks.

They start to scrap at breakfast
And yell the whole day through.
And they cuss one another
As no kinsfolk should do.
It ain't no place for children,
It's time fer me to roam.
I don't hear no fit language,
Just now around our home.

A Parable

Frederick W. Taylor, the advocate
of scientific management, said the other day in Philadelphia:
"Two men stood watching a steam
shovel at work. With a clatter and a roar the shovel bit into a steep bank,
closed on a carload of earth and
dumped it onto a waiting freight
train."

"It drives me wild," said the first
onlooker, "to see that monster taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Look at it. Why, it's filling
up those flat cars faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels
could do it."

"But the other onlooker shook his head and answered:
"See here, mister, if it would be better to employ a hundred men with
picks and shovels on this job,
wouldn't be better still, by your way
of thinking, to employ a thousand
men with forks and tablespoons?"

Optimists
For noncommittal brevity of
speech, commend us to the Yankee
lord of the soil. One such, who was obliged to make a physician daily
visits had an unvarying answer to the question, "How do you feel to-
day?"
"Well," he would reply, showing
as little interest in the subject as possible, "I ain't no wuss."

Further than that he wished to
say nothing, and it took the cunning
of a serpent to discover his real feelings.
A man who was knocked down in the street by a snowslide, was assailed
by a sympathizing crowd with condolence and question.
"Did it hurt you?" inquired one
of his rescuers, as he brushed the
snow from the clothes of the well
powdered victim.
"Well," was the cautious answer,
"it ain't done me no good."—Argonaut.

Why He Wanted to Know

The man in the upper berth leaned over its edge, and jamming his
frown firmly down on his brow, cried
in a harsh coarse voice that was audible above the rattle and rumble
of the engine:
"Hi, you, down there. Are you
rich?"
"Hey?" ejaculated the man in the lower berth, almost swallowing his Adam's apple. "Whizzer mazzey?"
"I say are you rich?"
"What's that, sir? Rich? What do you mean by waking me up in the middle of the night to ask me such a question as that?"
"I want to know—that's why."
"Well, then, confound you. I am rich. Now I hope your curiosity is satisfied and you will let me go to sleep."

"Very rich?"
"Millionaire, confound you. Now
shut up, and—"
"Well, then, why in torment don't you charter a whole train to do your snoring in?"—Searchlight.

One on Worthington

A story that caused much amusement was told around the ticker in Wall street offices concerning B. A.
Worthington, president of the Chicago
& Alton railroad.
In the summer of 1911 Mr. Worthington took his family to a farm house in Indiana where quiet and rest
seemed to be assured. Close by, however, was a pig sty, the presence of
which was indicated under certain wind conditions. Mr. Worthington
planned to go there again this year,
but wrote the farmer that the piggery would have to be attended to before he engaged accommodations.
The farmer's reply was brief:
"Can accommodate you all right.
There have been no hogs on the
place since you left."—New York

GRANDMOTHERS
USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Re-
store Gray and Faded Hair
to Its Natural Color.

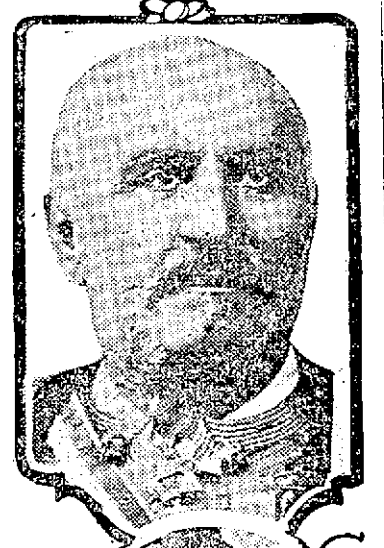

It is easier to preserve the color
of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both.
Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after
middle life was due to this fact.
Our mothers have gray hairs before
they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of
our grandmothers in using "sage
tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can
get a ready-to-use preparation
called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur
Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary
"sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the
hair depends on a healthy condition
of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the
dandruff germs which rob the hair
of its life, color and lustre, makes
the scalp clean and healthy, gives
the hair strength, color and beauty,
and makes it grow.

WAR ON THE TURKS

King and Queen of Montenegro.

In view of the fact that Montenegro is no larger than a handful of counties in an American state, it
may be imagined that it took some nerve for King Nicholas of that little kingdom to declare war on the Turks. However, before he did this bold thing Nicholas had assurances
from the other Balkan states and
from Greece that they would join him soon. Montenegro's excuse for declaring war against Turkey was a long standing quarrel over the boundary question.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Colonel Roosevelt's reply today to the statement of Governor Deneen accusing the former president of having been friendly with Senator Lorimer, contained a sarcastic sting directed at the Illinois executive. The colonel said:

"Fourteen years ago I was on good terms with Mr. Lorimer as with every other member of congress against whom I knew nothing and nobody did know anything against him then, but when Mr. Lorimer was elected senator his character had become a matter not only of statewide but of nation wide notoriety and if Mr. Deneen, who was then governor, and who advised Lorimer as he has himself testified, to take the senatorship and who congratulated him upon his election—if Governor Deneen at that time was such an innocent lamb as not to know about Lorimer, and about what was going on under his own eyes, in the jackpot legislature then Governor Deneen is altogether too innocent a creature to be allowed at large in American political life.

EXPECT JURY TO BE PICKED SOON

Second Venire of 350 Talesmen Is Called in the Salem Strike Trial

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 14.—When the trial of Joseph Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, resumed in superior criminal court today before Judge Quinn, District Attorney Henry C. Atwill and Fred Moore of California, head counsel for the defense, both expressed confidence that a jury would be obtained from the second venire of 350 talesmen within two days at the most. Ettor and Giovannitti are charged with accessories to the murder of Annie Polizzo, shot during a clash between strikers and police at Lawrence last winter. Caruso is charged with firing the shot which killed the woman.

Out of the first venire of 350 talesmen the four jurors were accepted: Christian W. Larson, barber, of Haverhill; Robert S. Stillman, carpenter, of Rockport; William P. Cressy, sailmaker, of Gloucester; George F. Burgess, leather maker of Lynn. Burgess was the 310th talesman examined. As soon as the new venire reported today, Judge Quinn began the work of questioning along the same lines he made when the proceedings opened on Sept. 30.

SOUSA'S BAND

The recent tour around the world by Sousa and his band was unique in more ways than one. The seasons of the year, for instance, included five winters. They sailed from New York in December, and were about nine weeks in Great Britain during the British winter; then went to South Africa and had four weeks' experience with the African cold weather. After a cold and blistering voyage from Capt Town to Hobart, Tasmania, they wished for spring, but were forced to put up with more winter when they crossed over to Australia and spent many shivering weeks in the four provinces of that continent, South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland. The next voyage took them to New Zealand, where they spent the month of August, the coldest time of the year there, and the last lay by water brought them back to the United States on the Pacific coast just at the beginning of last winter, and they finally reached New York again in December. When the band plays here tomorrow, matinee only,

FALLS FORTY FEET AND IS NOT HURT

MILWAUQUEE, Wis., Oct. 14.—Paul Egan, aged 27, 1320 Twenty-seventh street, plunged forty feet from the roof of a house at 516 State street and escaped death.

Egan had gone to the roof to do some work. He walked too near the cornice and fell over it. In his fall he was turned over twice and landed on his back, as those famed for the "neck fall" are in the habit of landing.

People who witnessed the fall rushed to the spot, expecting to find Egan dead. They found him on his back, unable to move because of a slight fracture. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where the physicians said he would be able to leave in a few days.

In time, Hooper out, Marquard to Merkle to Fletcher to Merkle, when he was caught napping by the Rubes' quick throw to first. Yerkes fled to Snodgrass. Speaker walked, after having drawn two strikes and fouling off two good ones. Speaker stole second, Marquard's throw being out of Meyers' reach. Lewis fled to Devore. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Marquard showed a lot of smoke in his opening tryout and Chief Meyers had the greatest difficulty in holding on to sizzling shots. The Sox evidently came up with instructions to make him work and it required twenty-two pitched balls to dispose of the half session.

NEW YORK—Devore out, Gardner to Stahl, hitting a bad one after the count was three and two. Doyle beat out a slow grounder to Yerkes. Doyle made a bluff steal, dashing toward second, forcing a throw out of Cady and then beat the throw back to first. Cady's throw to second as right in the bull's eye. Doyle stole second, getting a big lead on O'Brien's slow delivery and going into the bag with time to spare. Snodgrass fanned with three and two. Murray safe on a slow grounder to Wagner, on which the Sox' shortstop came in lightning fast and made a desperate but vain try. Doyle took third on the play. Doyle scored when O'Brien made a balk toward first and Murray took second.

O'Brien's balk was a bluff throw to first in the making of which he failed to take his foot off the rubber. McGraw instantly howled and Klen sustained him. Merkle doubled to right, scoring Murray. The first baseman's slam paralleled the right foul line about a foot inside the safe territory. Herzog doubled down the left foul line, scoring Merkle. Herzog's connection was with the first ball pitched. Meyers singled to Wagner in deep short, Herzog getting no farther than third. Meyers stole second, Herzog scoring. Cady threw to Yerkes to catch Meyers and Yerkes' throw to the plate was low and rolled to the stand. Fletcher and Meyers worked the squeeze play, the Indian scoring on Fletcher's drive down third base line. Fletcher was out, O'Brien to Stahl. Five runs, six hits, one error.

The Giants held a swatfest at the expense of Buck O'Brien in the opening stanza, touching the Boston spitball for six safe slams, two of which were good for extra bases. It was the first real batting of the series.

Second Inning
BOSTON—Gardner got a life when Marquard pulling down a bouncer bounced it over the lot for a couple of minutes, finally throwing wide when he did make the toss. Stahl singled, dropping a Texas leaguer back of second base. Wagner fanned, the third strike being called. Cady fouled out to Meyers with the count three and two. Engel batting for O'Brien. Engel doubled to left, scoring Gardner and Stahl. The smash hit the fence just inside the left foul line. Hooper fouled out to Meyers. Two runs, two hits, one error.

The Sox continued their policy of waiting them out on the Rubes nearly every batter either getting a quick slash or taking three and two.

NEW YORK—Collins replaced O'Brien. The count against O'Brien was five runs, six hits in one inning. Marquard popped out to Stahl. Devore fanned on three pitched balls. Doyle fled out to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Collins was there in his opening round, disposing of the first three Giants on five pitched balls, every one of which cut the plate.

Third Inning
BOSTON—Yerkes singled over second. Speaker fled to Snodgrass. Lewis fouled out to Devore. Gardner fled to Murray, who made the catch backed up against the right field fence. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The first two men in the second half of the third drew one and three, and the Rubes continued to work out on each batter up. The game was the slowest of the series, but two and a half innings being played in the first hour.

NEW YORK—Snodgrass fled to Yerkes. Murray singled to right and was out trying to stretch it into a double. Hooper to Yerkes. Hooper's long shot to second was a splendid assist, Yerkes making the catch without moving out of his tracks. Merkle beat out an infield hit to Gardner. Merkle died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Giants' effort to rush the Boston defense fizzled miserably in their half of the third. Both Murray, who tried to stretch a single into a double, and Merkle who attempted to steal, were killed off at the second bag with an ease that made their attempts look amateurish.

Fourth Inning
BOSTON—Stahl beat out a slow grounder to Herzog, getting the benefit of a hair line decision for which Evans was hissed, the first adverse demonstration against an umpire made during the series. Wagner's long fly to Snodgrass was pulled down by the center fielder, who made a wonderful running catch against the fence—a fitting companion piece for Devore's stellar stunt that snatched the Giants' victory at Boston. It was the first piece of brilliant work contributed by the Giant infielder during the series. Cady's single to right, a fly dropped back of Murray. Stahl going to third. Collins hit into a double play, Cady being nipped, Fletcher to Doyle, the latter throwing to Merkle for the put out on Collins. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Sox switched their style of attack on Marquard during the fourth, smashing the first ball over. The shift promised to net runs until a sensational catch by Snodgrass disposed of the side.

NEW YORK—Herzog fled to Speaker. Meyers tripled to left center, a smash which would have been good for an easy home run for a fast runner. Fletcher fled to Speaker, whose throw to Cady chased Meyers back to third after he had started for home. The Indian's play was coached by McGraw, who refused to let the catcher take a chance against Speaker's justly celebrated throwing arm. Marquard out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, one hit, one error.

The Indian's hard slam in the Giants' half of the fourth should have given them another run when Fletcher's long fly went to deep center, but when the Indian failed to come home on the play the lights dimmed and were snuffed by Marquard's easy out.

Fifth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper fled to Murray, close to the right grand stand wall. Yerkes out on a fly in the same territory. Murray landing the second one without shifting his position. Speaker fled to Herzog. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Sox again started in to clout the first ball and the first snappy half of the game resulted, as every smash went into a Giant's outstretched mitt.

NEW YORK—Devore dropped a safe one back of second. Doyle popped out to Wagner. Snodgrass got a hand for his spectacular catch when he came to bat and responded by sending a line fly to Hooper, whose throw to Stahl doubled Devore at first.

First. Devore misjudged the ball, thinking it was safe and was half way to third when Hooper caught the ball. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Giants tried desperately for a rally in the fifth when Devore was safe, but Collins was going good and disposed of the top of the Giants' batting order with ease.

Sixth Inning
BOSTON—Lewis fouled out to Meyers. Gardner fanned. Stahl fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard had struck his stride in the first half of the sixth and was winding his fast ones over with smoke that would have made Joe Wood envious. He retired the first three Sox up, the last two on strikeouts. Stahl himself being killed out with three balls, all directly over the plate. It was easily the Rubes' best inning.

NEW YORK—Murray fled to Hooper. Merkle popped out to Stahl. Herzog got a life and Cady an error when the latter muffed a high pop foul. Both Cady and Gardner went after it and both stopped before getting under it. Herzog fled to Yerkes. No runs, no hits, one error.

Collins exhibited good control and kept the Giants in the hole most of the time. Herzog was the only batter in this inning who appeared to have a chance, and his final smash was an easy out.

Seventh Inning
BOSTON—Wagner out, Marquard to Merkle. Cady fled to Snodgrass. Collins fled to Murray, close to the right field fence. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard retired the side on seven pitched balls and each of three men up smashed the latter hard but in every instance the hits went directly to waiting Giant fielders.

NEW YORK—Meyers out, Collins to Stahl. Fletcher fled to Speaker. Marquard fled to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For the sixth consecutive inning, Collins disposed of the first three

Eighth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper fled to Snodgrass. Yerkes' slow grounder was just beyond Doyle's reach and counted for a single. Speaker fled to Murray. Lewis fled to Murray. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giant outfielders were again busy this session, Marquard putting them over the plate and trusting to the outfielders to pull them down. NEW YORK—Devore out, Collins to Stahl. Doyle fouled out to Cady. Snodgrass beat out a slow one to Yerkes. Murray up. Snodgrass died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning
BOSTON—Gardner fled to Snodgrass. Stahl fled to Murray. Wagner out, Herzog to Merkle. No runs, no hits, no errors.

BRIDGIE WEBBER

the records from the conspirators' own lips, he said he would introduce the independent evidence to make their story material. Whitman insisted just before court opened that he had enough with who were not a part of the alleged murder conspiracy to convince the jury that the amazing tale related by Rose was absolutely true. One of those witnesses is Mrs. Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, but the identity of the others will be withheld until they are actually sworn.

Should the state's chief witnesses stick to their stories and each confirm the other, then not alone Becker, but Mrs. Becker and a number of police witnesses will be called by the defense. McIntyre also has complete records compiled for him by private investigators of the characters of the state witnesses, which he will present if he believes they are needed to discredit the prosecution.

Because of the manner in which Goff is forcing the trial ahead, it was believed today that it would reach the jury some time next week, a record in this state. Should the verdict be adverse to Becker, there will certainly be an appeal and McIntyre already has more than 1,000 exceptions to Justice Goff's rulings, on which to carry the case up to the highest court.

Mrs. Rosenthal to Change?
District Attorney Whitman decided on Bridgie Webber as his chief witness today when he reached court. He said that he had heard a rumor that Mrs. Rosenthal was going to change her testimony when she was sworn. Whitman left the impression that he believed his chief witness had been reached by friends of the defense and he said that he had sent two of his assistants to her home to interview her.

According to Whitman and chief assistant, Frank Moss, should Mrs. Rosenthal fail to tell the same story to the jury in the Becker case that she told the grand jury and also made affidavit to in his office, she will first be confronted with this evidence and then prosecuted for perjury.

When the trial opened District Attorney Whitman suddenly shifted his plans and called as his first witness Winfield S. Sheehan, secretary to police Commissioner Waldo. Before taking the bench, Judge Goff sent for District Attorney Whitman, Attorney McIntyre and some of the newspaper reporters. He said that he was convinced a number of gangsters secured admission to the courtroom on Saturday by means of police cards issued to permit newspaper representatives to pass through the police lines. As a result Goff said, admission hereafter would be on cards signed by him personally.

Justice Goff was especially angered over the fact that before Attorney McIntyre left the courtroom on Saturday night he was openly threatened by an unknown individual who told him that if he reflected on the wife of Jack Rose he would be killed.

Sheehan was called to identify certain police orders sent to Becker and Becker's signed replies, the intention of the state being to have Becker's signature established.

It was reported in the court room that Whitman had letters in his possession signed by Becker which he claimed would prove the partnership between Becker and Rosenthal, and the relations between Becker and Rose.

OF WILSON FUND

W. F. McCombs Tells the Clapp Committee All Details of Pre-Convention Struggle

Many of the Campaign Debts Were Incurred by Manager in Private Capacity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A full and complete history of the funds used in the Wilson pre-convention campaign was today told the Clapp investigating committee by W. F. McCombs, campaign manager for the democratic nominee. That he personally underwrote the campaign for $10,000 and was personally responsible for many of the debts incurred was a statement by McCombs, who supplied a list of contributions and their makers, and a complete account of expenditures.

The Wilson campaign was "close to the edge" all the time, Mr. McCombs insisted, and greatly needed funds. Only $3,000 was spent in the state of Illinois, the manager declared. The largest contribution was from a party of Princeton friends of the governor, $85,800.

McCombs called William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, the first witness called before the Clapp committee today, presented a detailed list of contributions to Governor Wilson's pre-convention battle.

McCombs said he knew nothing of 1904 or 1908 contributions. "I began the campaign about June 1, 1911," said McCombs. "It commenced in my office and for a month or so I bore all expenses out of my own pocket."

"I underwrote the campaign to the extent of $10,000 myself," said McCombs. The total contributions were $193,665.81.

List of Contributions
McCombs read the list of contributions. They included:

F. Penfield of Philadelphia, $12,000; W. F. McCombs, $11,000; Charles R. Crane, $10,000; Cleveland M. Dodge and Princeton friends, $85,800; H. J. Barrett, $2,500; G. F. Handel, $2,500; E. Magill, $2,500; A. T. Elkins, $12,500; Harvey Thomas, $5,500; Daniel F. Platt, $2,500; Henry Morgenthau, $20,000; Joseph F. Guffey, $1,850; Samuel Untermeyer, $25,000, and collected by Jacob M. Schiff, $2,500; Nathan Straus, $250.

"The campaign was not financed by any of the states," continued McCombs, submitting a detailed account of the entire Wilson expenses aggregating $208,183.05, a deficit of unpaid bills amounting to $14,617.

"The list includes practically all of the money used in the entire country, except that raised by the local and state committees," added McCombs. He gave the names of Wilson leaders in various states who would know of expenditures.

LOCAL CAMPAIGN
GETS WARMED UP

RECORD OF NEW JERSEY HERE

Senator Billed to "Answer La Follette" at Linker Hall Tomorrow Night

La Crosse county politics and politicians settled down to real business today and from the schedule prepared by the three chief contenders it is probable that this will be the busiest week in the campaign for all parties. Speeches will be made by both democrats and republicans in nearly every town in the county and the bull moose bunch break into the game again with a rally at Linker's hall tomorrow evening. There will be no out-of-town speakers in this city except State Senator George L. Record, of New Jersey, who will expound the Roosevelt doctrines and Hamlin Gariand of West Salem who will also speak in the interests of the bull moose campaign at Linker hall tomorrow night. Local speakers will take to the stump almost unanimously.

To Answer La Follette
Senator Record, according to members of the county committee "will answer La Follette" in his speech tomorrow night. He will be preceded and introduced by Hamlin Gariand.

According to the democratic schedule, the first rally of the week will be held at West Salem when Judge Thomas H. Henry of Newark, New Jersey, will talk national issues. On Tuesday night C. L. Hood will speak on state questions in the Concordia hall in this city. Wednesday night O. R. Skaar and L. P. Benetz will address an audience in the town hall of Burns. City Attorney A. H. Schubert and Joseph Boschert will speak at the town of Rockland hall and P. W. Mahoney will close the week's program with a speech at Onalaska.

The republican activities as outlined by the county committee today will begin with a meeting of the North Side Republican club at Fjeldstad's hall tonight at which Otto M. Schlachach, candidate for district attorney will be the principal speaker. Ward committees of eight members each will be appointed at the meeting tonight to carry on the campaign on the north. Mr. Schlachach and Otto Boschard, candidate for the assembly, will speak in several places in the county on state issues. They are scheduled to speak as follows: Wednesday, the Ten Mile House on the Mormon Coulee road; Thursday, Barre Mills; Friday, the town hall of Burns and Saturday at Burr Oak.

Morris to Durand
Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris left for Durand today where he will deliver a speech this afternoon. He will speak Wednesday night at Eau Claire. Mr. Morris will speak in several of the larger cities of the state before his return to this county. Governor Francis E. McGovern will speak at the La Crosse Theater October 30 but as yet no other out of town speakers have been arranged for by the county committee. It is expected, however, that Senator R. M. La Follette will deliver an address here before the end of the campaign although no definite date for his appearance has been arranged.

TERM OF CIRCUIT
COURT POSTPONED

The fall term of circuit court was postponed until November 12 by Judge E. C. Higbee today in compliance with a petition which was signed by nearly all of the attorneys of this city. The petition was circulated and presented to the court by George Gordon and Woodward and Lees. So many of the attorneys who have business in the circuit court this term are scheduled to take part in the political campaign that the postponement of court will probably meet with general approval. The Vernon county term will be postponed until December.

UP TO MARQUARD TO SAVE GIANTS

SOX WIN WILL END SERIES

Boston Plays Below Form, but Giants' Fielding Is Ragged so Sox Get Jump

(By Grantland Rice)
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A series of fluttering duck fits at the start, abnormal breaks by both teams—a general helter-skelter with both clubs in the air—and then, with both settled to normal, every day speed, Boston had the class as the early dogs has showed, and jumped to the front.

Which is exactly the answer, genial reader, to the highly delicate situation in which the Giants now find themselves after a week's play for the championship of the world. They had their chance in the first three games, with the Red Sox reeling to jump far and away beyond all danger. But while the Red Sox were tottering and playing lop-sided ball in certain spots, the Giants were cracking with even a louder crash, befuddled and muddled their opportunities and today are upon the thin rim of another world's series defeat. For unless Rube Marquard can stop Joe Wood this afternoon—Good night; likewise bum voyage and au revoir.

By the time Manhattan's entry had settled back of first class pitching, Boston's entry had settled likewise and Boston's entry carried enough class to scramble to within easy picking distance of the plum. Where the break is even, the class will tell and Boston in the light spots has out in with the class. Hence the present standing of the clubs.

The Situation
What may take place today or later on rests entirely with the boxed details, subject to a later edition.

We can only toy with what has happened and build upon this any prophecies for the future which is now likely to be brief—a short future but a merry one, as you might say.

Before the first battle last Tuesday, the early dope showed Boston leading on form. We rather expected Boston to win, despite the uncertainty of any short series, and 70 per cent of those trailing the game thought likewise.

Then came the shift where we figured New York with a luscious chance to upset the dope. The Red Sox, save in defensive play, were clearly below expected form. Neither Wood nor Collins, her two mainstays through the year, looked to be as impressive as they were tipped to be. The deadly sureness of the Red Sox team in almost every department which featured their play through the American league fight, was evidently out of gear.

And as McGraw had three fine pitchers in tip-top shape, the Polo outlook assumed a highly vermilion hue, fringed with tints of gold.

When you hear a man complaining that he hasn't a friend in the world it's a pretty safe bet that he doesn't deserve any.

Give a hustler half a chance and he'll take it all.
Other people's money is the root of much contention.

INDIANS ROUTED BY HIGHS 53-0

Red and Black Have Easy Time Beating the Tomah Eleven

CAPTAIN WIEBRECHT IS HURT

Halfback's Injured Shoulder May Keep Him Out of Eau Claire Game Saturday

The high school football team added another victory to its list Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Tomah Indian football team at League park by the score of 53 to 0. During the first half the Indians were entirely at the mercy of the lighter high school team and could do nothing with the offense put up by the highs. After about three minutes of play Capt. Wiebrecht went over for the first touch down of the game. Strum failed at goal. From then on the highs had everything their own way, skirting the Indians' ends for gains of ten, twenty and thirty yards and scoring touchdowns at will.

The highs received their first serious setback of the season when Captain Wiebrecht tore a ligament in his shoulder during the first half. It is not known how serious the injury will prove to be but there is a possibility that he will not be able to be at his position in the Eau Claire game Saturday which loss will be a great handicap to the highs. Wiebrecht left Saturday's game in the first half after he was hurt.

The first half of the game was featured by long gains by Wiebrecht, Gardner, Strum, Harris, McCabane, and Dickens. These men took the ball from formations and forward passes and carried it for long gains. McCabane and Dickens were able to negotiate long runs from tackle around plays and McCabane went over for one touchdown from this play. Gardner had the Indians completely bewildered with his dodging style of running and kept the spectators in a flurry of excitement whenever he carried the ball. Harris did some excellent running about the ends, the Indians being unable to tackle this speedy runner. Once he nailed a fumble by Dickens and amid great cheering ran about forty yards for a touchdown. Coach Seiler gave many of the reserves a chance to play in the first half and at the end Dickens, Gardner and Strum were the only regulars left in the lineup.

The few times that the Indians had possession of the ball in the first half they were unable to make their downs once and had to punt after a few attempts to circle the local's ends and to pierce the line. The Aborigines came back in the second half and in the third quarter played the locals to a standstill. They made consistent gains off tackle and through the line time and time again on attempts to score on drop kicks. The feature of the game was a triple pass play pulled off by the Indians which netted them several long gains. The play completely fooled the locals and the Tomahites were able to work it effectively three times.

The highs did not use many subs in the second half and were forced to play hard all the time to keep the visitors from scoring. They only scored one touchdown in this period of play and were not able to make such long gains as they did in the first half. The locals play at Eau

PORTAGE BEATEN BY TOMAH 20-0

Tomah Outplays Opponents and Wins Game by Making Three Touchdowns

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 14.—The Tomah highs took revenge on the Portage eleven Saturday by defeating them 20 to 0, thus evening up the score which Portage made on Tomah's team in 1910. Tomah won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. This was a good thing because a strong west wind was blowing at the start of the game. In the first quarter Tomah was within fifteen yards of the Portage goal and Higgins threw a pass to Yeager who was out on a "shoe stvenge" but fumbled it making it an incomplete pass in an open field. This destroyed Tomah's first opportunity to score. In the second quarter Tomah carried the ball for five yards nearly every down and finally brought the big tackle, snailly White over on a tackle back play. Yeager missed the goal. Tomah kicked off to Portage who punted after a few downs. A Portage end recovered it and when within thirty yards of Tomah's goal, Warren, Portage's left half attempted a drop kick but it sailed to the right of the posts.

In the third quarter neither team scored, although Portage had the ball on Tomah's fifteen yard line, but they were held for downs and Tomah carried the ball back to the center of the field. A forward pass was attempted, but Stegeman, the Portage half, intercepted and after a few line bucks time was called. At the beginning of the fourth quarter Sicks, the high school Indian, was substituted for Verick at full. He made things hot for Portage, intercepting passes and hitting the line for ten yards every time. Finally he broke away and ran twenty yards through the Portage team scoring the second touchdown. Yeager missed goal. Portage kicked off. Sicks received it and placed the ball in the center of the field. With three minutes of play Strachan, Tomah's quarterback, sent a forward pass to Battalia, who made a spectacular leap into the air and ran twenty yards for another touchdown. Yeager kicked goal. Tomah kicked off and soon after time was called.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Chicago National league club made it two straight wins from the local club of the American league on Sunday, in the series which is to decide the championship of the city of Chicago. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of the Nationals.

Comiskey's American league club was the first to score, but the Cubs won out by a batting rally in the seventh. Schulte started with a home run, after which Evers singled and took second on Sullivan's poor return to Walsh. Archer sent a long fly to center, but Bodie let the ball drop into the crowd. Evers scoring and Archer going to second from where he counted on an out and Rath's error.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Walsh and Reulbach. Walsh allowed seven hits, two of which were doubles and one home run, while Reulbach was touched up for eight, four of which were doubles.

KENOSHA HIT BY HEAVY FLOODS

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 14.—The worst floods known in Kenosha in many years followed the rain Friday night. At 4 o'clock Saturday morning a dike which had been built to protect a reeling well for the main sewer gave way and flooded more than a hundred acres in the south and west part of the city. In many places houses were completely surrounded by water and men going to work were forced to crawl out of upper windows and wade through water three and four feet deep. Women and children were taken from the houses in boats.

The departing patriots were escorted to the station by more than 2,500 countrymen.
Early Sunday morning a mass was offered in the Greek church for the cause of Greece and the safe return of those who are to battle for the mother country.

PIRATES' PROTEST UPHELD BY LYNCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Pittsburg's protest against Chicago's victory in the game of October 2 was upheld by President Lynch of the National league in a decision made public Sunday night and the game was thrown out of the record, thus changing slightly the league's standing. The protest was based on the fact that Catcher Cotter of Chicago was batting out of his turn when he hit a single which won the game in the tenth inning. The Pirates thus beat out the Cubs for second place by a game and a half.

Wires to Wife That There is No Danger—Physicians to Probe for Bullet

(By Special Wire.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 15.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States and third party candidate for re-election, was shot through the right breast by John Schrank of New York, while entering an automobile which was to take him from the Hotel Gilpatrick to the auditorium, where he was to make an address last night. The shooting occurred at 7:45 p. m. At first it was thought the wound was not serious and Colonel Roosevelt insisted on delivering his address but later last night it was discovered that the bullet had lodged deeply in the body of the ex-president and physicians were rushed from Chicago.

Assailant Captured

Schrank was thrown to the walk by E. E. Martin, the colonel's private secretary, and Henry F. Cochems, who were in the auto with him, and turned over to the police. He was taken to central police station where he made an awful confession, admitting that he had been following the ex-president for several weeks, waiting for a chance to kill him.

Throughout his address the colonel spoke with difficulty, although showing no signs of pain, yet weakening perceptibly toward the end, because of loss of blood, declaring that he meant to see the thing through.

Immediately after his address the colonel was taken to Emergency hospital, where his wound was examined but physicians decided not to remove the bullet until he reached Chicago. After he had been removed to his train, however, the wound began to bleed afresh and the Chicago physicians were summoned. It is feared that he may be compelled to discontinue all campaign work.

Shows Wound to Crowd

Fully 15,000 people, who packed the auditorium, cheered Colonel Roosevelt as he bared his breast on the stage, showed them the blood-stains and shouted, "It takes more than that to kill a bull moose."

The ex-president read his entire address from a manuscript punctured with holes through which the bullet had passed and but for which he might have been killed.

Time and again friends of the colonel tried to pull him back into his seat and told him that he had spoken long enough.

"I'm all right," he would answer. "I am feeling better every minute. I am going to make you listen to this speech whether you want to or not."

Because of his wound Colonel Roosevelt did not deliver the entire address he had intended and he prefaced his remarks with an extemporaneous address. His excerpt from La Follette's Magazine was read by Thomas J. Mahon, Governor McGovern's candidate for secretary of the republican state central committee.

Papers Saved Life

"I shall have to ask you to be as quiet as possible," said Colonel Roosevelt at the beginning of his address. "I've just been shot, but it takes more than that to kill a bull moose. Fortunately I had my manuscript in my pocket. The bullet passed through it and then went into my body and it's there yet. My manuscript probably prevented it's going through my heart."

"But I am not thinking about being shot. I have altogether too many things to talk about. My concern is for many other things, not for my own life. I am ahead of the game anyway. No man has had a happier life. I have been able to do many things I have wished to do, and I am tensely interested in doing other things, but I am very much disinterested in whether I am shot or not. I have always thought a private had some right to feel some pang about his personal safety, but never a colonel when he is occupied as he ought to be with an absorbing desire to do his duty. I am in this cause with my whole heart because I believe in the progressive movement. I will feel keenly any blow to that movement. I am not thinking of my own success or my own life. I did not know who the man was who shot me, tonight. He was seized at once by one of my stenographers, Mr. Martin. He shot to kill me; I am going to show you." (Here Colonel Roosevelt pulled open his coat and vest to show the blood spots.)

Then for a moment Colonel Roosevelt seemed to grow confused and he repeated part of his address.

Hurried to Hospital

Immediately following his speech, Roosevelt gave in to the entreaties of his friends and the physicians, who were summoned, and was hurried through the crowd that thronged the exit to an automobile. He was at once taken to the Emergency hospital, where he was examined with an X-ray, but the surgeons did not attempt to probe for the bullet which was found lodged in the tissues of his chest just above the diaphragm.

Just before going on the operating table Roosevelt dictated the following message to his wife: "I have been shot in the breast. The bullet is still in me but there is no danger."

He gave orders that if the telegraph office at Oyster Bay was closed, the message should be taken to Sagamore Hill by a taxicab.

Shortly after the wound had been dressed and while he was lying on a cot in the Emergency hospital, Roosevelt dictated another telegram to his wife at Oyster Bay. The message was as follows:

Sends Message to Wife

"Am in excellent shape. Made an hour and half speech. The wound is a trivial one. I think they will find that it merely glanced on a rib and went somewhere into a cavity of the body. It certainly did not touch a lung and isn't a particle more serious than one of the injuries any of the boys are continually having. Am at the Emergency hospital at the moment but anticipate going right on with my engagements. My voice seems to be in good shape. Best love to Ethel."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

The boys he referred to in his message to his wife are his sons. "The colonel is in good shape," said Chief of Police J. A. Janssen, who was present during the X-ray examination. "I do not think the colonel's wound is itself serious although if infections set in it may prove so. The fact that the doctors did not probe for the bullet makes it not likely that infections will set in. His pulse is normal and he is resting easily."

"The bullet lodged in the tissues of his chest about two inches above the diaphragm. The wound is three inches deep, lodging the bullet near the lungs. From the nature of the wound it appears that the bullet took a slight upward course. Colonel Roosevelt suffered little loss of blood."

Schrank was put on the grill at the police headquarters, but made no coherent statement. At first he declined to divulge his identity, but after that was secured he talked more freely, and admitted he had followed Roosevelt for the purpose of killing him since September 21. His trail after the ex-president had taken him to many cities on the colonel's itinerary. He answered all questions in a matter of fact way, although many of his answers betrayed a diseased mind.

"Do you believe men are justified in taking life?" he was asked, and answered, "No."

"What were you doing at 8 o'clock tonight?"

"That was all right; he was seeking a third term."

"Don't you belong to the anarchists?"

"I want you to understand I don't belong to any political party. I am not affiliated with no socialists or anarchists. Neither am I a republican or a democrat. I am a free and independent American citizen."

"You seem to be the only one who objects to a third term."

"Yes, it looks that way, and I'm sorry you're right."

"Have you any police record?"

"Never, but I guess I have one now."

"What is your religion?"

"I'm a Roman Catholic."

"What church do you belong to in New York?"

"I haven't attended regular for ten years. The last one I was to was Fifty-fifth street and Fifth avenue."

"Do you ever go to confession?"

"No, sir, you can be a good Catholic without going to church."

"Do you believe in God?"

"Yes."

Schrank's Statement

Schrank made a complete confession to Chief Janssen. His statement is as follows:

"I formerly ran a saloon at 10 East Tenth street, between Avenues B and C, New York city. I was born in Erding, Bavaria, two hours out of Munich, the capital. I am 36 years old and came to this country when 9 years old, with my parents. I have been engaged in the saloon business as proprietor and as an employee nearly all my life, until I decided that it was my duty to kill Colonel Roosevelt. I have been personally acquainted with Roosevelt since the former president was police commissioner of New York in 1895. I was first attracted to him as political personage during the convention in Chicago. I began to think seriously of him as a menace to his country when he cried, 'Thief' at the convention. I look upon his plan to start a third party as a danger to the country. My knowledge of history, gained through much reading, convinced me that Roosevelt was engaged in a dangerous undertaking. I was convinced that if he was defeated at the fall election he would again cry, 'thief' and though his action would plunge the country into a bloody civil war."

"I deemed it my duty, after much consideration of the situation, to put him out of the way. I was living at my home address at the time, but soon afterward I had a dream in which former President McKinley appeared to me. I was told by McKinley in this dream that it was not Czolgosz who murdered him, but Roosevelt. McKinley, in the dream, told me that his blood was on Roosevelt's hands, and that Roosevelt had killed him so that he might become president."

"I was more deeply impressed by what I read in the newspapers than others and after having this dream was more convinced than ever that I should free the country from the menace of Roosevelt's ambition."

A Strange Hallucination

The only papers found upon

According to figures submitted by J. E. Keizer, income tax assessor, today the city will gain $3,159.80 in revenue by the passage of the income tax law instead of losing $17,717.23 as claimed by City Tax Commissioner Joseph Frisch.

According to Mr. Frisch, the exemptions under the income tax law amounted to $2,459,226 and at the rate of 21 mills this would have produced $51,643.74. Mr. Frisch then deducted $35,000, the city's share of the income tax, leaving $17,717.23.

Income Tax Assessor Keizer's figures show, however, that instead of exemptions amounting to $2,459,226 they were only $2,166,000. The revenue on this at 21 mills is $45,486, so that instead of the revenue lost through exemptions amounting to $51,643.74 it amounted to but $45,486.

According to the estimate of the state tax commission the income tax in the city of La Crosse amounted to $50,000. In placing the income tax in the city budget an allowance of thirty per cent, the state and county share of the income tax, was made, placing the city's share at $35,000.

The city would have received $45,486 in revenue by taxing the exempt property and deducting thirty per cent for the state and county this would have left but $31,840.20, or $3,159.80 less than was derived from the income tax. In his estimate Mr. Frisch did not make allowance for state and county's share of the income tax being already deducted.

Exemptions $2,166,000

Mr. Frisch submitted the following statement of exemptions:

Gold watches	3,695
Pianos	130,525
Monies and credits	1,879,339
All other pers. property	445,547
Total	$2,549,106

The item of all other personal property last year amounted to $445,547 and Mr. Frisch included all of that class of property as exempt. Mr. Keizer today declared that only certain kinds of that class of property were exempt and that instead of the exemptions on that class of property amounting to $445,547, it amounts to $152,409 or $293,138 less than the figures submitted by Mr. Frisch.

TWO CITIZENS ARE KILLED

FOURTEEN STILL AT LARGE

Two of Criminals Are Slain but Rest Have Made Off Into the Hills

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 14.—With two persons known to be dead, two others reported slain, and one mortally wounded in the open country about Rawlins, Wyo., excitement was at fever heat all over the state today, as the result of last night's riot of convicts at the state penitentiary, resulting in the second successful prison delivery there in 36 hours.

Of the eight convicts who overpowered their guards and escaped last night, one, Antonio Paseo, a life term, is known to have been shot down. Another convict, name unknown, is said to have been slain outside of Rawlins by a posse of guards, and a third is reported mortally wounded.

Shoot Citizens

Charles Strasser, a Rawlins barber, attempted to stop the fleeing convicts when they left the prison, and was shot through the temple by Paseo, dying instantly.

Another citizen, a hunter, name unknown, is said to have been slain by convicts outside of Rawlins when the fugitives held up a hunting party and seized their weapons and ammunition.

There have been two deliveries since Saturday and much confusion exists.

Late Saturday Butch Dalton, a life term, and 19 other convicts overpowered the inner guards at the penitentiary and escaped. They spread out over town and then went into the surrounding country. Alston ordered out a half dozen posses to search for them, and by noon Sunday ten had been recaptured.

Paseo Leads Escape

The absence of so many guards from the prison was the direct cause of the second escape. Antonio Paseo, a bad man of the most desperate type, organized a party of prisoners, and early last night eight of them rushed the inner guards, overpowered the turnkey, climbed the walls and quickly walked away. Before going, however, they armed themselves with butcher knives, hatchets and cleavers from the kitchen.

The party remained together, and started through the residence section of Rawlins. Frisco yard guards gave chase. Charles Strasser saw the fugitives and tried to capture them. They fled from him at first, until they reached the ward of Bert Talbert. Paseo slashed Talbert across the throat, took his revolver and shot Strasser. He then took Strasser's ammunition and revolver and escaped. Guards overtook them near the railroad yards and shot the top of Paseo's head off. The others fled through the wards firing as they ran. Three were captured. Four reached the outskirts and got into the hills, a large party of guards and citizens pursuing.

South of Rawlins, the four fleeing fugitives took possession of a sheep camp, compelling R. J. Daley to drive them southward. When overhauled they unhitched the horses, took arms and ammunition from the wagon and escaped in the darkness, two on each horse. These four are heavily armed, and are sure to give desperate battle if cornered. It is feared they may effect a junction with the ten fugitives led by Dalton.

Dalton Band Desperate

The Dalton fugitives are most desperate, which was shown at noon yesterday, when a party of them, believed to number six, were trapped in a canyon south of Rawlins. They had built a barricade of rocks and fired upon the pursuers from behind this, forcing the guards to retreat. Meantime, a condition bordering on panic exists at Rawlins. Last night heads of families, fearing the fugitive convicts might seek refuge in their homes, sat up all night with rifles across their knees. Scenes rivaling those during the days of the Indian uprisings thirty years ago were witnessed.

STATE INSURANCE APPLICATIONS OUT

First Steps Taken to Put New Law Into Operation by Wisconsin Department

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Letters are being sent out by the state department of insurance containing application blanks for state insurance and setting forth the plan and desirability of such insurance. This is the first step taken by the late to put into operation the new law providing for life insurance by the state, the plan of which has for some time engaged the attention of Commissioner Herman L. Ekern. Besides the application blank the letter contains a copy of the law passed at the last session of the legislature providing for this new departure by the state.

The letter accompanying the application blanks and the law reads: "Dear Sir:—

"The state of Wisconsin is soon ready to issue policies of life insurance and must have a considerable number of approved applications before the plan can be put into operation."

"Will you kindly return this sheet with the names of ten young men in your vicinity, 20 years of age or over, sound and in good health, who need and are in position to pay for a $1,000 policy of life insurance in the life fund of the state."

"Full information and blanks for application will soon be sent to anyone on request."

The application blank reads: "I consider making application for $1,000 or $500 insurance in the life fund of the state of Wisconsin on ordinary life, 20 payment life, 20 year endowment, endowment at age 65, term to age 65. Indicate amount and plan desired by underscoring. Thus: $1,000 ordinary life."

Commissioner Ekern will shortly issue a statement setting forth in more detail the proposed operation of the law.

McGOVERN IS FOR PROGRESS

Vote for Governor Is in Favor of Continued Advancement, Says Senator

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—That a vote for McGovern is in favor of continued advancement and is cast for the progressive movement, is a statement made by Senator La Follette in an editorial in his magazine last week. The editorial is entitled "To the Progressive Voters of Wisconsin," and reviews Karel's record in deadly parallel with that of McGovern. Says the editorial:

"The situation in Wisconsin remains unchanged. It is McGovern or Karel for governor. Between those two candidates, the progressive voters who, through the republican party, have made Wisconsin the beacon light of constructive self government, should have no difficulty in choosing. It is plainly a choice between progress and reaction, between general interest and special interest."

"McGovern, the republican candidate, stands on a platform in keeping with the principles upon which true representative government has been built, and pledging their further extension toward a complete political, educational and industrial democracy. Karel, the democratic candidate, stands on a platform which is a repudiation of the leadership of William Jennings Bryan and Woodrow Wilson; in fact the supporters of Karel are the enemies of Wilson and Bryan. McGovern has a record of real service, of faithful performance of his pledges, and of earnest co-operation with the legislature in carrying out the expressed will of the people. Karel's legislative record is a record of unbroken hostility to those vital measures which laid the foundation of Wisconsin's high governmental eminence. McGovern, on his record as governor, and his acceptance of the republican platform, is supported by the progressive republican leaders throughout the state who for years have helped bear the brunt of the struggle. Karel's backers are the undemocratic democrats and the Stalwart republican bosses."

"Wisconsin progressives resent and repudiate McGovern's course in waiting until he was safely nominated and then exhibiting the bull moose pin under his coat collar. They are expressing their resentment in no uncertain terms. But the bull moosing of McGovern should not subject him to punishment by Wisconsin voters in the coming election when the weight of such punishment would not fall upon him but upon the whole state. His declarations for Roosevelt and the steel trust 'legalized monopoly' program, have no immediate bearing upon the work of our state government during the next two years. The republican platform pledges which he, if elected, is in duty bound to fulfill, have naught of the bull moose taint, and his record of the past two years is sufficient warrant that he will not fall in his future fulfillment of present promises to the voters of Wisconsin."

"A vote for Karel is a vote for reaction and special interests. A vote for McGovern is a vote for continued advancement; it is a vote cast for the progressive movement."

MOOSER FOR WILSON

OREGON CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE VOICES 'APPRECIATION OF DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT

ALBANY, Oregon, Oct. 14.—"Governor Wilson is a high-minded gentleman and a man of great ability. He is a thorough progressive and if elected will, in my judgment, give the people a progressive administration."

This statement was made here today by John W. Campbell who is the Bull Moose candidate for congress in the first district of Oregon. Mr. Campbell's attitude towards Governor Wilson is typical of the position taken by large numbers of progressives in this state. It is conceded that the third-term candidate injured rather than helped his cause in Oregon, and as a result many who were disposed to vote for him are turning to Governor Wilson.

PROGRESSIVES WILL
HAVE OUR SUPPORT

In the present campaign The Tribune will support the republican
county ticket.

The campaign for state offices is
one of immense importance to the
progressive cause. To the disgust of
many democratic leaders the control
of the state democratic ticket has
fallen into the hands of men who
make no secret of their purpose to
wipe out the progressive laws that
have been enacted in this state, and
which have caused all legislators,
state and national, to turn to Wisconsin for example and precedent.

There exists between the state and
the county tickets but one bond of interest. It lies in the fact that the men who are running for county office
on the republican ticket are
men who have given and are giving
aid to the progressive state
program, while their opponents are
men who in one way and another—
some of them in every way—have
opposed the progressive legislation
put forth by past administrations.
That is the relative position of the
respective members of the two county tickets today, for the democratic
politicians of the county are making a noble effort to swallow Karel
and his reactionary program for the sake of "harmony."

The Tribune believes in the progressive program, and therefore it
feels obligated to support for the
county administrative offices those
men who are part and parcel of the
progressive movement, provided they
offer to the public promise of a suitable degree of efficiency in the offices to which they aspire. In the
present instance we believe the progressive republican ticket, as a ticket
and as individuals, offers even more
in the way of businesslike administration of county affairs than does
its opponent, and therefore we shall
urge its election.

PLAN TO REGULATE
THE PRICE OF GOLD

A plan for international regulation
of the price of gold has been proposed by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale
university, before the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce,
in session at Boston. It was the
contention of this speaker that fluctuations in money value—so to
speak—is directly connected with and
largely due to fluctuations in the
world's production of gold, the basic
element of the currency of practically all modern nations. The more
gold produced, in other words, the
cheaper the basic gold dollar becomes
in comparison with other commodi-
ties, including the price of labor.
Which, of course, upholds the argument of those who contend that present prevailing high prices all over the world are directly due to a steady
increase in the world's output of
gold for several years past.

Professor Fisher, however, believes this is a thing that could be
and should be regulated by nations
through international agreement,
and the plan he proposes is simple-
ly itself. He would restore the old
law of seigniorage, under which a
government imposes a charge on the
producer or owner of gold bullion
for converting it into coin, and he
would have this seigniorage regulated by an "official index number of
the average price level of all other
stable commodities." In other words,
when the relative price of gold is
low, as measured by the average
price of other commodities, the bul-
lion owner would receive less for
his bullion, thereby tending to restrict the production of gold until a stable level was restored. And at
all times, so Professor Fisher
claims, the tendency would be to
keep the gold dollar, or other unit
of currency, on a stable basis, at the
same time leaving separate commodi-
ties subject to the usual influences
of supply and demand.

The theory is an ingenious one, to
say the least, and is likely to attract the attention of financial experts all over the world. The presented system is concededly imperfect,

for it not only offers a premium to
the gold bullion producer, when the
relative price of gold is low, but im-
poses a double burden on the public
generally by unduly encouraging gold
production at the very time when
commodity prices are being forced
upward through an already too plentiful supply of gold. The proposed
plan of relief is therefore worth
considering, and it is not unlikely
the time will come when something
of this kind will be actually under-
world.

WHO IS MR. PERKINS?

Who is George W. Perkins? Here
is the answer, which an eastern exchange has cut from the pages of
the report of the steel investigating
committee of the house of representatives:

Director of the United States steel
corporation.

Chairman of finance committee
and director of International Harvester company.

Director of Astor Trust company.

Director of Bankers' Trust company.

Director of Cincinnati, Hamilton
& Dayton Railroad company.

Director of Cincinnati, New Orleans
& Texas Pacific Railroad company.

Director of German-American Insurance company.

Director of German Alliance Insurance company.

Director of International Mercantile Marine company.

Director of Marquette and Bessemer
Dock and Navigation company.

Director of National City bank of
New York.

Trustee of New York Trust company.

Director of Northern Pacific Railroad company.

Chairman of board, Pere Mar-
quette Railroad company.

Nearly all of these companies
control or own a large number of
other companies.

Mr. Perkins is a shrewd man. He
has millions of dollars invested in
the various corporations and trusts
are now being prosecuted by the Taft
administration. Is he financing Mr.
Roosevelt's campaign in order to
have in the White house a friend or
an enemy? William Allen White of Kansas in an appeal for contributions to the third campaign fund,
said:

"The men who finance the campaign control the administration."
Does the country want an administration which is controlled by a
director in fifteen different trusts
and corporations?

GREAT CUSTODIANS
OF "LAW AND ORDER"

Now and then a fight within the
camp gives us a flash at the alarming conditions that obtain on the
"inside" of police service in the big cities.

The case of Lieutenant Becker, of
New York, is in point. No one who
has read the evidence doubts that
this "guardian" of the people's homes
was in league with the worst of New York's grafters and cutthroats, and
that it was he who inspired one of
the most brutal murders in the history of the Gotham tendarloin.

The daring of the crime—of his
order to do murder "in the presence
of the patrolmen"—indicates the
strength with which felony is enrenched within the supposed fortress of law and order.

It remains to be seen whether the
resources of the "gang" are sufficient to buy or intimidate a jury. Also, one wonders to what extent per-
jury may prove effective in the defense of men of Becker's stripe and
influence.

Insist that every man who runs
for office on the plea that he will
help repeal some law shall offer some
sound substitute for that law.

It cannot be denied that ex-Senator Thirston made a decided impression upon the community.

It becomes daily more apparent
that not many voters are going to
be hood-winked.

A Parable

Frederick W. Taylor, the advocate
of scientific management, said the
other day in Philadelphia:

"Two men stood watching a steam
shovel at work. With a clatter and a
roar the shovel bit into a steep bank,
closed on a carload of earth and
dumped it onto a waiting freight
train."

"It drives me wild," said the first
onlooker, "to see that monster taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Look at it. Why, it's filling
up those flat cars faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels
could do it."

"But the other onlooker shook his
head and answered:

"See here, mister, if it would be better to employ a hundred men with
picks and shovels on this job,
wouldn't it be better still, by your way
of thinking, to employ a thousand

Optimists

For noncommittal brevity of
speech, commend us to the Yankee
lord of the soil. One such, who was obliged to make a physician daily
visits had an unvarying answer to
the question, "How do you feel to-
day?"

"Well," he would reply, showing
as little interest in the subject as
possible, "I ain't no wuss."
Further than that he wished to
say nothing, and it took the cunning
of a serpent to discover his real feelings.

A man who was knocked down in the street by a snowslide, was assailed by a sympathizing crowd with condolence and question.
"Did it hurt you?" inquired one
of his rescuers, as he brushed the
snow from the clothes of the well
powdered victim.

"Well," was the cautious answer,
"it ain't done me no good."—Argo-
naut.

Why He Wanted to Know

The man in the upper berth lean-
ed over its edge, and jamming his
frown firmly down on his brow, cried
in a harsh coarse voice that was
audible above the rattle and rumble
of the engine:

"Hi, you, down there. Are you
rich?"
"Hey?" ejaculated the man in the
lower berth, almost swallowing his Adam's apple. "Whizzer mazzey?"

"I say are you rich?"
"What's that, sir? Rich? What do you mean by waking me up in the middle of the night to ask me such a question as that?"

"I want to know—that's why."
"Well, then, confound you, I am
rich. Now I hope your curiosity is satisfied and you will let me go to sleep."

"Very rich?"
"Millionaire, confound you. Now
shut up, and—"
"Well, then, why in torment don't
you charter a whole train to do your
snoring in?"—Searchlight.

One on Worthington

A story that caused much amusement was told around the ticker in
Wall street offices concerning B. A.
Worthington, president of the Chicago
& Alton railroad.

In the summer of 1911 Mr. Worthington took his family to a farm house in Indiana where quiet and rest
seemed to be assured. Close by, however, was a pig sty, the presence of
which was indicated under certain
wind conditions.

Mr. Worthington this year,
planned to go there again this year,
but wrote the farmer that the pig-
sty would have to be attended to
before he engaged accommodations.

The farmer's reply was brief:
"Can accommodate you all right.
There have been no hogs on the
place since you left."—New York

GRANDMOTHERS
USED SAGE TEA

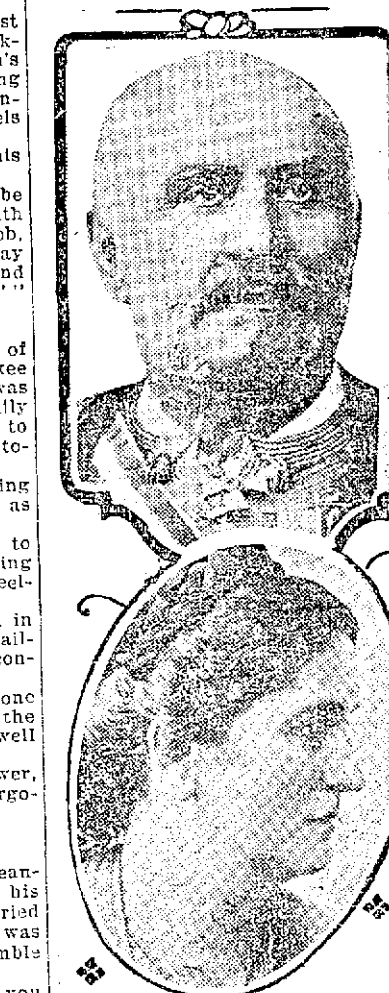

To Darken the Hair and Re-
store Gray and Faded Hair
to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color
of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both.
Our grandmothers understood this secret. They made a "sage tea," and
their dark, glossy hair long after
middle life was due to this fact.
Our mothers have gray hairs before
they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of
our grandmothers in using "sage
tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the
advantage of the past in that it can
get a ready-to-use preparation
called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur
Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and
color restorer this preparation is
vastly superior to the ordinary
"sage tea" made by our grand-
mothers.

The growth and beauty of the
hair depends on a healthy condition
of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the
dandruff germs which rob the hair
of its life, color and lustre, makes
the scalp clean and healthy, gives
the hair strength, color and beauty,
and makes it grow.

King and Queen of Montenegro.

In view of the fact that Mont-

counties in an American state, it
may be imagined that it took some
nerve for King Nicholas of that little
kingdom to declare war on the

bold thing Nicholas had assurances
from the other Balkan states and
from Greece that they would join

declaring war against Turkey was a

COMES
SMILING

"Father," she asked, "what's the matter? Have your sins found you out?"

The general waited for the slat-terly maid-servant to give them their breakfast and leave the room before he spoke.

"We have been robbed," he said
calmly, casually, as one would mention the weather. His tones implied that he was perfectly willing to listen to reason, but that he knew who the thief was and anything stated to the contrary was not reason.

"I spend my whole life, father,"
said Henrietta, "finding the articles
you have been robbed of. Your system is all right. You have a place for everything, but you never remember the place."

The Watermelon pulled out the linings of his empty pockets and held out his wrists that they might see the cuffs tied together by a bit of string.

Henrietta and Billy stared.
"I have never had a thief in my room," cried Billy. "I would like to see how it feels."

"I'm not robbed," said Henrietta, making a hurried examination of the small-sized trunk she carried as a hand-bag.

"It's the stable-boy," said the general. "I noticed him carefully last night. He would not look any one in the face."

"He goes home every night," objected Henrietta. "Mrs. Parker told me so."

"That's no reason he couldn't come back," said the general.
"No," said Henrietta. "But because a boy won't look at you is no reason to say that he is a thief."

"He does look at you, anyway," said Billy innocently. "He looked at me."

"It was clever in him to take our check-books," said Bartlett.
"He will forge our names," declared the general. "I made out
a check to pay for the board here,
signed it, too, I remember, and then I found some cash and thought I would use that and went to bed and forgot to destroy the check. I know it was the stable-boy, for my room has a balcony in front over the porch, and last night it was so warm
I left the door open."

"Make it was," agreed Henrietta.
"I hate to suspect him,
though."

CHAPTER XVII.

Alphonse hides away
The stable-boy would have access to the back of the house, too,"
said the general, who felt that if he had not become a general and had escaped being a master mechanic, he would have been a famous detective.

"Yes," agreed the Watermelon.
"But I don't think it is the boy. I was out until after eleven, and just before I came in I saw him drive up with the girl. They had been out to some dance and he left her and drove on."

The girl appeared in the doorway wiping a plate, slipshod and awkward. Henrietta blushed, the general was painfully confused and the other three turned their attention hastily to their food.

"Want anything?" asked the girl.
"No, thank you," replied Henrietta gently, feeling that in judging the stable-boy she had somehow injured the girl.

The girl lingered at a moment,
glanced significantly at the clock,
and went out.

"Who could it be?" asked Billy,
pleasantly excited.

"Why, this is terrible," said Henrietta. "If the boy didn't do it,
there is no one else who could have
but the family."

"It looks that way," admitted the Watermelon.

"What shall we do?" gasped Billy. "What shall we pay them with?"

The slatternly girl again appeared in the doorway much to the general's nervousness.

"Want anything," she asked, and glanced again at the clock.

"No," said Henrietta. "No, thank you."

"I will speak to Parker," declared
the general as the girl left.

"I wish you didn't have to," sighed Henrietta. "It's horrid to lose your money, but it must be so much worse to need money so that you would steal it."

"But that's the test of honesty," declared the general. "To need money and not steal."

"I know," admitted Henrietta, pushing aside her coffee cup. "I do admire strong people who can resist,
but I'm so much sordid for the weak who can't. It's pitiful, that's what it is."

"Yes," cried Billy, as usual car-

The Oldest Blood Disease

The most ancient history furnishes evidence that mankind suffered with Contagious Blood Poison. The disease has come down through all the ages and is to-day, as it has ever been, a scourge and blight upon humanity. The symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison are the same as in its earliest history, but its cure has now become an accomplished fact, whereas, it was once considered an incurable infection. S. S. S. is an antidote for the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, and cures it in all its forms and stages. S. S. S. possessing both purifying and tonic properties routs out all the poison, and at the same time builds up the general health. A person who has been cured of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S. need not fear a return of its symptoms at any future time.
This great medicine checks the progress of the poison and gradually but surely all sores and eruptions
heal, ulcerated mouth and throat pass away,
the hair stops falling out, copper-colored spots
fade away, and when the blood is thoroughly purified no sign of the disease is left. Home Treatment book and any medical advice free.

Miss Crossman?"

"No, thank you," said the general, confused and unhappy.
"Mrs. Parker smiled still. 'I am glad you liked everything. Your man should be back soon. He hasn't had any breakfast yet.'"

"Where'd he go?" asked the general, feeling that that was safe enough ground.

"My husband thinks that he went out in one of the automobiles very early, for he found one of them gone."

"Did your husband see him go?"
asked Bartlett.

"Oh, no, but he thinks he must have gone because there is only one automobile."

"Oh, yes," said Henrietta, and stared at the others, fearful of reading her own crushing suspicion in their eyes.

Alphonse, the quiet, blasé, peerless Alphonse? Could it be he? That Alphonse had gone for an early morning spin lured by the dew on the clover fields, by the sweet chorus of awakening birds, borne by the unexpressed desire to see the shy, sweet advent of a new day creeping up the flushed and rosy
sky, was wholly out of the question.

Alphonse's soul, in the early morning hours, was filled only with the beauty and glory of the dawn. The general had always been forced to arouse his serving-man, and the process had often been painful, calling for sternness and suppressed wrath on the general's part. Alphonse a thief was more believable
than Alphonse getting out of bed uncalled.

Billy was the first to speak.

BJORN NELSON DIES SUDDENLY

Old Resident of Bostwick Valley Is Stricken with Paralysis Yesterday

Bjorn Nelson, for many years a resident of this vicinity, died of a stroke of paralysis at his home in Bostwick valley yesterday. He had been ill for several years.

Mr. Nelson was born in Houggen Sund, Norway, on March 16, 1828, and he was eighty-four years old. He was one of the oldest residents of this vicinity, as he came to La Crosse in 1854 and remained in the city for two years. He then went to Bostwick Valley, where he settled on a farm and he has lived there for the last fifty-six years.

Mr. Nelson is survived by eight children, Andrew, Bert, Mont and Kernel Nelson of La Crosse; Samuel, Bernard and Miss Mary Nelson of Bostwick valley and Miss Lina Nelson of Balsam Lake, Wis.

DEMOCRATS UP FOR INQUIRY

Clapp Committee Takes Up Cost of Campaign Before Baltimore Convention

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The Clapp committee today had every appearance of a democratic national powwow. Democratic chiefs met today to tell how much it cost respectively, to battle at Baltimore for Governor Wilson, Representative Underwood and Governor Harmon, leading presidential candidates. Much interest was manifested by the committee, as it has already learned that the candidacy of Speaker Clark, the other one of the "big four" candidates, cost $50,000.

Chairman McComb of the democratic national committee, who was Wilson's pre-convention manager, was here to divulge his experience. Vice Chairman McAdoo of the democratic national committee, was also here. Senator Bankhead of Alabama, Oscar Underwood's chief supporter, was called to tell how much money he received, and if any came from the Southern railway, as has been charged. Governor Harmon's expenses were to be furnished by Lieut. Gov. Nichols of Ohio.

Judge Parker, of New York, and Rover Sullivan of Chicago, were the prominent democrats summoned to testify today.

After a holiday, Wednesday, the committee will return its attention to bull moose expenses securing information from George W. Perkins and Frank Munsey.

Elmer Dover, assistant treasurer in 1904, of the republicans, may also come here the latter part of the week, after searching in Chicago storage vaults for alleged duplicate lists of Treasurer Bliss' contribution accounts.

DENIES EXTRAVAGANCE

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR STATE TREASURER ISSUES FIGURES TO REFUTE BOLENS' STATEMENT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 14.—In a statement issued by Henry Johnson, republican candidate for state treasurer, denial is made of the charge of Henry W. Bolens, democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, that it costs taxpayers of the state five millions a year for salaries of state employees. Johnson shows that the total annual cost for salaries, including all state schools, is $2,164,159. The only part of this paid directly by the people is $1,158,915, for the support of the university. The remainder was paid by railroad, inheritance and other taxes. Johnson says the treasury will remit a million dollars in taxes this year and still have enough for current expenses.

SENTENCED TO ORDER

MILWAUKEE JUDGE FORCES MASHERS TO JOIN GIBBONS TO ESCAPE THE "WORKS"

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14.—Abraham Wilson and William George, Chicago travelingmen, today made application for membership in the Order of Gideons in compliance with an order of Judge N. B. Neelen. The men were arrested charged with flouting. "I am going to send you to the house of correction," said the judge when the men faced the bar.

"My God, Judge," they chorused, "that will ruin us."

An almost tearful plea moved the judge to ask the men if they had heard of the Gideon order of Christian traveling men. They agreed they had.

"Then," thundered the court, "sentence is that you join the Gideons." The prisoners agreed and were discharged.

OFF WITH CORSET SAY DENVERITES

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 14.—A declaration of independence against the corset has been issued by the Colorado chapter of the Mothers' congress.

"Off with the corset. Freedom forever from tight lacing," was the slogan voiced at a meeting of the chapter, which also figuratively speaking, decided to kick off high heels, and tube skirts.

The sentiment of the chapter was expressed by its president, Mrs. Fred Dick, who said: "The large waist line has come to stay. The next thing for us mothers to take up is the movement for women's emancipation from the corset. The time has come for sensible dress reform. High heels must go. I think the coming of tight skirts a good thing. I do not speak of the tube skirt—that must go—but of the moderately tight skirts. Think of the yards and yards of goods needed in the old time skirt and how foolish a woman felt to wear it. "The moderately tight skirt gives perfect freedom to the limbs and has come to stay with the large waist line."

with every other member of con-

was then governor, and who advised Lorimer as he has himself testified,
to take the senatorship and who con-

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—When the trial of Joseph E. Ettore, Arturo Gio-

med in superior criminal court today
before Judge Quinn, District Attorney Henry C. Atwell and Fred Moore
of California, head counsel for the defense, both expressed confidence
that a jury would be obtained from
the second venire of 350 talesmen
within two days at the most. Ettore
and Giovannitti are charged with accessories to the murder of Annie Po-
pizzo, shot during a clash between strikers and police at Lawrence last winter. Caruso is charged with firing the shot which killed the woman.
Out of the first venire of 350
talesmen the four jurors were accepted: Christian W. Larson, barber, of Haverhill; Robert S. Stillman, carpenter, of Rockport; William P.

man examined. As soon as the new venire reported today, Judge Quinn
began the work of questioning along
the same lines he made when the proceedings opened on Sept. 30.

EXPECT JURY TO BE PICKED SOON

Second Venire of 350 Talesmen Is Called in the Salem Strike
Trial

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 14.—When the trial of Joseph Ettore, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, resumed in superior criminal court today
before Judge Quinn, District Attorney Henry C. Atwell and Fred Moore
of California, head counsel for the
defense, both expressed confidence
that a jury would be obtained from
the second venire of 350 talesmen
within two days at the most. Ettore
and Giovannitti are charged with accessories to the murder of Annie Po-
pizzo, shot during a clash between
strikers and police at Lawrence last
winter. Caruso is charged with firing the shot which killed the woman.
Out of the first venire of 350
talesmen the four jurors were accepted: Christian W. Larson, barber, of Haverhill; Robert S. Stillman, carpenter, of Rockport; William P.
Cressy, sailmaker of Gloucester;
George F. Burgess, leather maker of Lynn. Burgess was the 310th tales-man examined. As soon as the new venire reported today, Judge Quinn
began the work of questioning along
the same lines he made when the
proceedings opened on Sept. 30.

SOUSA'S BAND

The recent tour around the world
by Sousa and his band was unique in more ways than one. The seasons of the year, for instance, included five winters. They sailed from New York in December, and were about nine weeks in Great Britain during the British winter; then went to South Africa and had four weeks'
experience with the African cold weather. After a cold and blistering voyage from Capt. Town to Hobart, Tasmania, they wished for spring,
but were forced to put up with more winter when they crossed over to Australia and spent many shivering weeks in the four provinces of that continent, South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland. The next voyage took them to New Zealand, where they spent the month of August, the coldest time of the year there, and the last lap of the year brought them back to the United States on the Pacific coast
just at the beginning of last winter,
and they finally reached New York
again in December. When the band plays here tomorrow, matinee only,

MILWAUQUEE, Wis., Oct. 14.— Paul Egan, aged 27, 1320 Twenty-seventh street, plunged forty feet from the roof of a house at 516 State street and escaped death.
Egan had gone to the roof to do some work. He walked too near the cornice and fell over it. In his fall he turned over twice and landed on his back, as those famed for the "neck fall" are in the habit of landing.
People who witnessed the fall
rushed to the spot, expecting to find Egan dead. They found him on his back, unable to move because of a slight fracture. He was removed to the Emergency hospital, where the physicians said he would be able to leave in a few days.

O'BRIEN PRESENTS GIANTS WITH GAME

in time. Hooper out, Marquard to Merkle to Fletcher to Merkle, when he was caught napping by the Rube's quick throw to first, Yerkes fled to Snodgrass. Speaker walked, after having drawn two strikes and fouling off two good ones. Speaker stole second, Marquard's throw being out of Meyers' reach, Lewis fled to Devore. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Marquard showed a lot of smoke in his opening tryout and Chief Meyers had the greatest difficulty in holding on to sizzling shots. The Sox evidently came up with instructions to make him work and it required twenty-two pitched balls to dispose of the half session.

NEW YORK—Devore out, Gardner to Stahl, hitting a bad one after the count was three and two. Doyle beat out a slow grounder to Yerkes. Doyle made a bluff steal, dashing toward second, forcing a throw out of Cady and then beat the throw back to first. Cady's throw to second as right in the bull's eye. Doyle stole second, getting a big lead on O'Brien's slow delivery and going into the bag with time to spare. Snodgrass fanned with three and two. Murray safe on a slow grounder to Wagner, on which the Sox's shortstop came in lightning fast and made a desperate but vain try. Doyle took third on the play. Doyle scored when O'Brien made a balk toward first and Murray took second.

O'Brien's balk was a bluff throw to first in the making of which he failed to take his foot off the rubber. McGraw instantly howled and Klem sustained him. Merkle doubled to right, scoring Murray. The first baseman's slam paralleled the right foul line about a foot inside the safe territory. Hooper doubled down the left four line, scoring Merkle. Herzog's connection was with the first ball pitched. Meyers singled to Wagner in deep short, Herzog getting no farther than third. Meyers stole second, Herzog scoring. Cady threw to Yerkes to catch Meyers and Yerkes' throw to the plate was low and rolled to the stand, Fletcher and Meyers worked the squeeze play, the Indian scoring on Fletcher's drive down third base line. Fletcher was out, O'Brien to Stahl. Five runs, six hits, one error.

The Giants held a swatfest at the expense of Buck O'Brien in the opening stanza, touching the Boston spitball for six safe slams, two of which were good for extra bases.

It was the first real battling of the series.

Second Inning

BOSTON—Gardner got a life when Marquard pulling down a bounder bounced it over the lot for a couple of minutes, finally throwing wide when he did make the toss. Stahl singled, dropping a Texas leaguer back of second base. Wagner fanned, the third strike being called. Cady fouled out to Meyers with the count three and two. Engel batting for O'Brien. Engel doubled to left, scoring Gardner and Stahl. The smash hit the fence just inside the left foul line. Hooper fouled out to Meyers. Two runs, two hits, one error.

The Sox continued their policy of waiting them out on the Rube nearly every batter either getting a quick slash or taking three and two.

NEW YORK—Collins replaced O'Brien. The count against O'Brien was five runs, six hits in one inning. Marquard popped out to Stahl. Devore fanned on three pitched balls. Doyle fled out to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Collins was there in his opening round, disposing of the first three Giants up on five pitched balls, every one of which cut the plate.

Third Inning

BOSTON—Yerkes singled over second. Speaker fled to Snodgrass. Lewis fouled out to Devore. Gardner fled to Murray, who made the catch backed up against the right field fence. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The first two men in the second half of the third drew one and three, and the Rube continued to work out on each batter up. The game was the slowest of the series, but two and a half innings being played in the first hour.

NEW YORK—Snodgrass fled to Yerkes. Murray singled to right and was out trying to stretch it into a double. Hooper to Yerkes. Hooper's long shot to second was a splendid assist. Yerkes making the catch without moving out of his tracks. Merkle beat out an infield hit to Gardner. Merkle died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Giants' effort to rush the Boston defense fizzled miserably in their half of the third. Both Murray, who tried to stretch a single into a double, and Merkle who attempted to steal, were killed off at the second bag with an ease that made their attempts look amateurish.

Fourth Inning
BOSTON—Stahl beat out a slow grounder to Herzog, getting the benefit of a hair line decision for which Evans was hissed, the first adverse demonstration against an umpire made during the series. Wagner's long fly to Snodgrass was pulled down by the center fielder, who made a wonderful running catch against the fence—a fitting companion piece for Devore's stellar stunt that snatched the Giants' victory at Boston. It was the first piece of brilliant work contributed by the Giant infielder during the series. Cady's single to right, a fly dropped back of Murray, Stahl going to third, Collins hit into a double play, Cady being nipped, Fletcher to Doyle, the latter throwing to Merkle for the put out on Collins. No runs, two hits, no errors.

The Sox switched their style of attack on Marquard during the fourth, smashing the first ball over. The shift promised to net runs until a splendid double play, coupled with a sensational catch by Snodgrass disposed of the side.

NEW YORK—Herzog fled to Speaker. Meyers tripled to left center, a smash which would have been good for an easy home run for a fast runner. Fletcher fled to Speaker, whose throw to Cady chased Meyers back to third after he had started for home. The Indian's play was coached by McGraw, who refused to let the catcher take a chance against Speaker's justly celebrated throwing arm. Marquard out, Yerkes to Stahl. No runs, one hit, one error.

The Indian's hard slam in the Giants' half of the fourth should have given them another run when Fletcher's long fly went to deep center, but when the Indian failed to come home on the play the lights dimmed and were snuffed by Marquard's easy out.

Fifth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper fled to Murray, close to the right grand stand wall. Yerkes out on a fly in the same territory. Murray landing the second one without shifting his position. Speaker fled to Herzog. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Sox again started in to clout the first ball and the first snappy half of the game resulted, as every smash went into a Giant's outstretched mitt.

NEW YORK—Devore dropped a safe one back of second. Doyle popped out to Wagner. Snodgrass got a hand for his spectacular catch when he came to bat and responded by sending a line fly to Hooper, whose throw to Stahl doubled Devore at first.

First. Devore misjudged the ball, thinking it was safe and was half way to third when Hooper caught the ball. No runs, no hits, no errors.

The Giants tried desperately for a rally in the fifth when Devore was safe, but Collins was going good and disposed of the top of the Giant's batting order with ease.

Sixth Inning

BOSTON—Lewis fouled out to Meyers. Gardner fanned. Stahl fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard had struck his stride in the first half of the sixth and was winding his fast ones over with a spoke that would have made Joe Wood envious. He retired the first three Sox up, the last two on strikeouts. Stahl himself being killed out with three balls, all directly over the plate. It was easily the Rube's best inning.

NEW YORK—Murray fled to Hooper. Merkle popped out to Stahl. Herzog got a life and Cady an error when the latter muffed a high pop foul. Both Cady and Gardner went after it and both stopped before getting under it. Herzog fled to Yerkes. No runs, no hits, one error.

Collins exhibited good control and kept the Giants in the hole most of the time. Herzog was the only batter in this inning who appeared to have a chance, and his final smash was an easy out.

Seventh Inning
BOSTON—Wagner out, Marquard to Merkle. Cady fled to Snodgrass. Collins fled to Murray, close to the right field fence. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Marquard retired the side on seven pitched balls and each of three men up smashed the latter hard but in every instance the hits went directly to waiting Giant fielders.

NEW YORK—Meyers out, Collins to Stahl. Fletcher fled to Speaker. Marquard fled to Speaker. No runs, no hits, no errors.

For the sixth consecutive inning, Collins disposed of the first three

Giants with the assistance of his able team mates, but eighteen men having faced him during the six innings he was in the box.

Eighth Inning
BOSTON—Hooper fled to Snodgrass. Yerkes' slow grounder was just beyond Doyle's reach and counted for a single. Speaker fled to Murray. Lewis fled to Murray. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giant outfielders were again busy this session, Marquard putting them over the plate and trusting to the outfielders to pull them down. NEW YORK—Devore out, Collins to Stahl. Doyle fouled out to Cady. Snodgrass beat out a slow one to Yerkes. Murray up. Snodgrass died stealing. Cady to Wagner. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ninth Inning

BRIDGIE WEBBER BACKS UP ROSE

The records from the conspirators' own lips, he said he would introduce the independent evidence to make their story material. Whitman insisted just before court opened that he had enough with who were not a part of the alleged murder conspiracy to convince the jury that the amazing tale related by Rose was absolutely true. One of these witnesses is Mrs. Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, but the identity of the others will be withheld until they are actually sworn.

Should the state's chief witnesses stick to their stories and each confirm the other, then not alone Becker, but Mrs. Becker and a number of police witnesses will be called by the defense. McIntyre also has complete records compiled for him by private investigators of the characters of the state witnesses, which he will present if he believes they are needed to discredit the prosecution.

Because of the manner in which Goff is forcing the trial ahead, it was believed today that it would reach the jury some time next week, a record in this state. Should the verdict be adverse to Becker, there will certainly be an appeal and McIntyre already has more than 1,000 exceptions to Justice Goff's rulings, on which to carry the case up to the highest court.

Mrs. Rosenthal to Change?

District Attorney Whitman decided on Bridgie Webber as his chief witness today when he reached court. He said that he had heard a rumor that Mrs. Rosenthal was going to change her testimony when she was sworn. Whitman left the impression that he believed his chief witness had been reached by friends of the defense and he said that he had sent two of his assistants to her home to interview her.

According to Whitman and chief assistant, Frank Moss, should Mrs. Rosenthal fail to tell the same story to the jury in the Becker case that she told the grand jury and also made affidavit to in his office, she will first be confronted with this evidence and then prosecuted for perjury.

When the trial opened District Attorney Whitman suddenly shifted his plans and called as his first witness Winfield S. Sheehan, secretary to police Commissioner Waldo.

Before taking the bench, Judge Goff sent for District Attorney Whitman, Attorney McIntyre and some of the newspaper reporters. He said that he was convinced a number of gangsters secured admission to the courtroom on Saturday by means of police cards issued to permit newspaper representatives to pass through the police lines. As a result Goff said, admission hereafter would be on cards signed by him personally.

Threaten McIntyre
Justice Goff was especially angered over the fact that before Attorney McIntyre left the courtroom on Saturday night he was openly threatened by an unknown individual who told him that if he reflected on the wife of Jack Rose he would be killed.

Sheehan was called to identify certain police orders sent to Becker and Becker's signed replies, the intention of the state being to have Becker's signature established.

It was reported in the court room that Whitman had letters in his possession signed by Becker which he claimed would prove the partnership between Becker and Rosenthal, and the relations between Becker and

GIVES ACCOUNT OF WILSON FUND

W. F. McCombs Tells the Clapp Committee All Details of Pre-Convention Struggle

Many of the Campaign Debts Were Incurred by Manager in Private Capacity

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A full and complete history of the funds used in the Wilson pre-convention campaign was today told the Clapp investigating committee by W. F. McCombs, campaign manager for the democratic nominee. That he personally underwrote the campaign for $10,000 and was personally responsible for many of the debts incurred was a statement by McCombs, who supplied a list of contributions and their makers, and a complete account of expenditures.

The Wilson campaign was "close to the edge" all the time, Mr. McCombs insisted, and greatly needed funds. Only $3,000 was spent in the state of Illinois, the manager declared. The largest contribution was from a party of Princeton friends of the governor, $85,800.

McCombs Called
William F. McCombs, chairman of the democratic national committee, the first witness called before the Clapp committee today, presented a detailed list of contributions to Governor Wilson's pre-convention battle.

McCombs said he knew nothing of 1904 or 1908 contributions. "I began the campaign about June 1, 1911," said McCombs. "It commenced in my office and for a month or so I bore all expenses out of my own pocket."

"I underwrote the campaign to the extent of $10,000 myself," said McCombs.

The total contributions were $193,563.81.
List of Contributions
McCombs read the list of contributions. They included:
F. Penfield of Philadelphia, $12,000; W. F. McCombs, $11,000; Charles R. Crane, $10,000; Cleveland M. Dodge and Princeton friends, $85,800; H. J. Barrett, $2,500; G. F. Handel, $2,500; R. Magill, $2,500; A. I. Elkins, $12,500; Harvey Thomas, $6,500; Daniel F. Platt, $2,500; Henry Morgenthau, $20,000; Joseph R. Guffey, $1,850; Samuel Untermeyer, $25,000, and collected by Jacob M. Schiff, $2,500; Nathan Straus, $250.

"The campaign was not financed by any of the states," continued McCombs, submitting a detailed account of the entire Wilson expenses aggregating $208,183.05, a deficit of unpaid bills amounting to $14,617.

"The list includes practically all of the money used in the entire country, except that raised by the local and state committees," added McCombs. He gave the names of Wilson leaders in various states who would know of expenditures.

LOCAL CAMPAIGN GETS WARMED UP

RECORD OF NEW JERSEY HERE

Senator Billed to "Answer La Follette" at Linker Hall Tomorrow Night

La Crosse county politics and politicians settled down to real business today and from the schedule prepared by the three chief contenders it is probable that this will be the busiest week in the campaign for all parties. Speeches will be made by both democrats and republicans in nearly every town in the county and the bull moose bunch break into the game again with a rally at Linker hall tomorrow evening. There will be no out-of-town speakers in this city except State Senator George L. Record, of New Jersey, who will expound the Roosevelt doctrines and Hamlin Garland of West Salem who will also speak in the interests of the bull moose campaign at Linker hall tomorrow night. Local speakers will take to the stump almost unannounced.

To Answer La Follette
Senator Record, according to members of the county committee "will answer La Follette" in his speech tomorrow night. He will be preceded and introduced by Hamlin Garland.

According to the democratic schedule, the first rally of the week will be held at West Salem when Judge Thomas H. Henry of Newark, New Jersey, will talk national issues. On Tuesday night C. L. Hood will speak on state questions in the Concordia hall in this city. Wednesday night O. R. Skaar and L. P. Benezet will address an audience in the town hall of Burns. City Attorney A. H. Schubert and Joseph Boschert will speak at the town of Rockland hall and P. W. Mahoney will close the week's program with a speech at Onalaska.

The republican activities as outlined by the county committee today will begin with a meeting of the North Side Republican club at Fjeldstad's hall tonight at which Otto M. Schlachach, candidate for district attorney will be the principal speaker. Ward committees of eight members each will be appointed at the meeting tonight to carry on the campaign on the north. Mr. Schlachach and Otto Boschard, candidate for the assembly, will speak in several places in the county on state issues. They are scheduled to speak as follows: Wednesday, the Ten Mile House on the Mormon Coulee road; Thursday, Barre Mills; Friday, the town hall of Burns and Saturday at Burr Oak.

Morris to Durand
Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris left for Durand today where he will deliver a speech this afternoon. He will speak Wednesday night at Eau Claire. Mr. Morris will speak in several of the larger cities of the state before his return to this county. Governor Francis E. McGovern will speak at the La Crosse Theater October 30 but as yet no other out of town speakers have been arranged for by the county committee. It is expected, however, that Senator R. M. La Follette will deliver an address here before the end of the campaign although no definite date for his appearance has been arranged.

TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT POSTPONED

The fall term of circuit court was postponed until November 12 by Judge E. C. Higbee today in compliance with a petition which was signed by nearly all of the attorneys of this city. The petition is circulated and presented to the court by George Gordon and Woodward and Leas. So many of the attorneys who have business in the circuit court this term are scheduled to take part in the political campaign that the postponement of court will probably meet with general approval. The Vernon county term will be postponed until December.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Wheat markets were in a turmoil today at the opening and on the local board of trade December and May delivery jumped above the $1 mark. There was an advance of from 2 to 2 1/2 cents on all futures here, immediately followed by a reaction, and prices held firm the remainder of the day at a net gain of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents. In Liverpool great excitement prevailed and prices soared some gains being as high as 3 1/2 pence. The exciting factor was the fear that Balkan situation will mean the closing of the Dardanelles and the shut off of the support of Russian and Danubian supplies.

Corn and oats felt the action in the wheat pit and prices ranged higher.

Provisions were steady at slightly advanced prices.

UP TO MARQUARD TO SAVE GIANTS

SOX WIN WILL END SERIES

Boston Plays Below Form, but Giants' Fielding Is Ragged so Sox Get Jump

(By Grantland Rice)
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A series of fluttering duck fits at the start, abnormal breaks by both teams—a general helter-skelter with both clubs in the air—and then, with both settled to normal, every day speed, Boston had the class as the early dogs showed, and jumped to the front.

Which is exactly the answer, genial reader, to the highly delicate situation in which the Giants now find themselves after a week's play for the championship of the world. They had their chance in the first three games, with the Red Sox feeling to jump far and away beyond all danger. But while the Red Sox were tottering and playing top-sided ball in certain spots, the Giants were cracking with even a louder crash, befuddled and muddled their opportunities and today are upon the thin rim of another world's series defeat. For unless Rube Marquard can stop Joe Wood this afternoon—Good night; likewise bum voyage and au reservoir.

By the time Manhattan's entry had settled back of first class pitching, Boston's entry had settled likewise and Boston's entry carried enough class to scramble to within easy picking distance of the plum. Where the break is even, the class will tell and Boston in the tight spots has cut in with the class. Hence the present standing of the clubs.

The Situation
What may take place today or later on rests entirely with the boxed details, subject to a later edition.

We can only toy with what has happened and build upon this any prophecies for the future which is now likely to be brief—a short future but a merry one, as you might say.

Before the first battle last Tuesday, the early dope showed Boston leading on form. We rather expected Boston to win, despite the uncertainty of any short series, and 70 per cent of those trailing the game thought likewise.

Then came the shift where we figured New York with a luscious chance to upset the dope. The Red Sox, save in defensive play, were clearly below expected form. Neither Wood nor Collins, her two mainstays through the year, looked to be as impressive as they were tipped to be. The deadly sureness of the Red Sox team in almost every department which featured their play through the American league fight, was evidently out of gear.

And as McGraw had three fine pitchers in tight shape, the Polo outlook assumed a highly vermillion hue, fringed with tints of gold.

When you hear a man complaining that he hasn't a friend in the world it's a pretty safe bet that he doesn't deserve any.

Give a hustler half a chance and he'll take it all.

Other people's money is the root of much contention.

INDIANS ROUTED BY HIGHS 53-0

CAPTAIN WIEBRECHT IS HURT

Halfback's Injured Shoulder May Keep Him Out of Eau Claire Game Saturday

The high school football team added another victory to its list Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Tomah Indian football team at League park by the score of 53 to 0. During the first half the Indians were entirely at the mercy of the lighter high school team and could do nothing with the offense put up by the highs. After about three minutes of play Capt. Wiebrecht went over for the first touch down of the game. Strum failed at goal. From then on the highs had everything their own way, skirting the Indians' ends for gains of ten, twenty and thirty yards and scoring touchdowns at will.

The highs received their first serious setback of the season when Captain Wiebrecht tore a ligament in his shoulder during the first half. It is not known how serious the injury will prove to be but there is a possibility that he will not be able to be at his position in the Eau Claire game Saturday which loss will be a great handicap to the highs. Wiebrecht left Saturday's game in the first half after he was hurt.

The first half of the game was featured by long gains by Wiebrecht, Gardner, Strum, Harris, McCahan and Dickens. These men took the ball from formations and forward passes and carried it for long gains. McCahan and Dickens were able to negotiate long runs from tackle around plays and McCahan went over for one touchdown from this play. Gardner had the Indians completely bewildered with his dodging style of running and kept the spectators in a flurry of excitement whenever he carried the ball. Harris did some excellent running around the ends, the Indians being unable to tackle this speedy runner. Once he nailed a fumble by Dickens and amid great cheering ran about forty yards for a touchdown. Coach Setler gave many of the reserves a chance to play in the first half and at the end Dickens, Gardner and Strum were the only regulars left in the lineup.

The few times that the Indians had possession of the ball in the first half they were unable to make their downs once and had to punt after a few attempts to circle the locals' ends and to pierce the line. The Aborigines came back in the second half and in the third quarter played the locals to a standstill. They made consistent gains off tackle and through the line time and time again on attempts to score on drop kicks. The feature of the game was a triple pass play pulled off by the Indians which netted them several long gains. The play completely fooled the locals and the Tomahites were able to work it effectively three times.

The highs did not use many subs in the second half and were forced to play hard all the time to keep the visitors from scoring. They only scored one touchdown in this period of play and were not able to make such long gains as they did in the first half. The locals play at Eau

Claire next Saturday afternoon and will have to do some hard work to strengthen their line which in the center and guard positions is not up to the standard, although it is stronger than any it has played against thus far this year. Summary:

CUBS BEAT WALSH IN SLAB DUEL

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Chicago National league club made it two straight wins from the local club of the American league on Sunday, in the series which is to decide the championship of the city of Chicago. The score was 4 to 2 in favor of the Nationals.

Comiskey's American league club was the first to score, but the Cubs won out by a batting rally in the seventh. Schulte started with a home run, after which Evers singled and took second on Sullivan's poor return to Walsh. Archer sent a long fly to center, but Bodle let the ball drop into the crowd, Evers scoring and Archer going to second from where he counted on an out and Rath's error.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Walsh and Reulbach. Walsh allowed seven hits, two of which were doubles and one home run, while Reulbach was touched up for eight, four of which were doubles.

Score: R H E
Nationals . . . 00000130x—4 7 0

KENOSHA HIT BY HEAVY FLOODS

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 14.—The worst floods known in Kenosha in many years followed the rain Friday night. At 4 o'clock Saturday morning a dike which had been built to protect a receiving well for the main sewer gave way and flooded more than a hundred acres in the south and west part of the city. In many places houses were completely surrounded by water and men going to work were forced to crawl out of upper windows and wade through water three and four feet deep. Women and children were taken from the houses in boats.

PORTAGE BEATEN BY TOMAH 20-0

Tomah Outplays Opponents and Wins Game by Making Three Touchdowns

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 14.—The Tomah highs took revenge on the Portage eleven Saturday by defeating them 20 to 0, thus evening up the score which Portage made on Tomah's team in 1910. Tomah won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. This was a good thing because a strong west wind was blowing at the start of the game. In the first quarter Tomah was within fifteen yards of the Portage goal and Higgins threw a pass to Yeager who was out on a "shoe string" but fumbled it making it an incomplete pass in an open field. This destroyed Tomah's first opportunity to score. In the second quarter Tomah carried the ball for five yards nearly every down and finally Wright the big tackle, carried the ball over on a tackle back play, Yeager missed the goal. Tomah kicked off to Portage who punted after a few downs. A Portage end recovered it and when within thirty yards of Tomah's goal, Warren, Portage's left half attempted a drop kick but it sailed to the right of the posts.

In the third quarter neither team scored, although Portage had the ball on Tomah's fifteen yard line, but they were held for downs and Tomah carried the ball back to the center of the field. A forward pass was attempted but Stegeman, the Portage half, intercepted and after a few line bucks time was called. At the beginning of the fourth quarter Sickels, the high school Indian, was substituted for Verick at full. He made things hot for Portage, intercepting passes and hitting the line for ten yards every time. Finally he broke away and ran twenty yards through the Portage team scoring the second touchdown. Yeager missed goal. Portage kicked off, Sickels received it and placed the ball in the center of the field. With three minutes of play Strachan, Tomah's quarter, sent a forward pass to Battalia, who made a spectacular leap into the air and ran twenty yards for another touchdown. Yeager kicked goal. Tomah kicked off and soon after time was called.

MILWAUKEE GREEKS LEAVE FOR FRONT
Sped by the good wishes of Milwaukee, which were extended to them by Mayor Bading and Alderman John Koerner and the music of the Star Spangled Banner, 552 Greeks left the city at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, bound for Greece and war.

The departing patriots were escorted to the station by more than 2,500 countrymen.

Early Sunday morning a mass was offered in the Greek church for the cause of Greece and the safe return of those who are to battle for the mother country.

PIRATES' PROTEST UPHELD BY LYNCH

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Pittsburgh's protest against Chicago's victory in the game of October 2 was upheld by President Lynch of the National league in a decision made public Sunday night and the game was thrown out of the record, thus changing slightly the league's standing. The protest was based on the fact that Catcher Cotter of Chicago was batting out of his turn when he hit a single which won the game in the tenth inning. The Pirates thus beat out the Cubs for second place by a game and a half.

FIRE DOES BIG DAMAGE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 14.—After two hours' hard fighting, an estimated $75,000 fire in the Willis block on Third street, near Wabasha, was gotten under control by the entire downtown force of fire fighters shortly before midnight last night. Early this morning firemen were still battling with bursts of flame which from time to time sprang up from the ruins of what for a long time has been one of St. Paul's landmarks.
